Dear Mr. Cox:

It was a pleasure talking to you in St. Petersburg at the public hearing the other day. I have been thinking about what the Public Service Commission might do to push competition for residential telephone service here in Florida. The only conclusion that I have reached thus far is that coming up with a low-cost, easy, and fair solution is not going to be easy! The only thing that I am sure of is that raising rates without competition available will only result in a windfall for the present providers.

My reason for writing is to ask if you could furnish me with a list of the names and addresses of the people who spoke at the meeting as I would like to form a local coalition to urge that the legislature turn this matter over to the Public Service Commission for a full hearing on this matter rather than just answering a few questions. The legislature has many more pressing matters to handle during its short session than having to deal with telephone rates!

My second reason for writing is to ask if the Commission would consider furnishing the St. Petersburg library with a copy of its final report when finished. Also would it be possible for me to obtain a copy?

My third reason for writing is to ask if you have a short summary as to the adoption of the cap rate. What was the agreement? How long does it have to run? Is the present study to revise the cap rate situation?

Any assistance that you might be able to render in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Robert E. Stano

Dear Ms. Clark:

While I know the PSC's power to regulate utilities are subject to the whims of our legislators I wish to furnish you and the other members of the commission with some background to substantiate my position. This position, simply put, is that Bell South's attempt to get legislators to increase Bells' profits is not only unconscionable, but Southern Bell should be required to pass on savings created by rapid strides in the communications field.

It is clear that where competition exists, as in, the areas of long distance communication and in computers the rates for supplying phone should be declining rather than rising. The phone companies have learned that it is easy to use lobbyists to "educate" our elected officials to do their bidding. It is astonishing what a few small favors like paid junkets and dinners will do toward convincing our elected officials to see the wisdom of increasing rates for monopolies in general. These monopolies are continually seeking "fair" increases in their rates. Never mind that these pols were elected to protect their constituents against such incursions by powerful (well heeled) interests to extract as much money as possible from their captive clients.

Enclosed are a few articles that may help clear up my stand on this subject.

Sincerely,

Joseph Lucci

Dear Sir:

This article from a Tampa editorial leads me to wonder why the PBP has not been more active in exposing the outrage being perpetrated on the citizens of Florida by Southern Bell and our lawmakers.

With the advent of new technology in telecommunications, i.e., fiber optics, digital witching, etc. the cost of providing phone service has declined dramatically why aren't some of these economies passed on to local phone subscribers. Instead, unlike what is happening with long distance rates and the computer field, where true competition exists, we are being hit with fallacious reasons why local phone rates should be raised.

The biggest farce is that one portion of the company is subsidizing another. Isn't this all one company? Bell South's profits are substantial enough to allow it to go venturing abroad and into areas outside their realm. Aren't we, the citizens of Florida, subsidizing these undertakings which are far afield from their original purpose of providing local phone service.

Monopoly lobbyists have found it easier to convince willing legislators to enshrine rate raises into law than to justify their demands to the public. In this fashion the phone monopolies have found it easy to bypass the moribund Public Service Commission by making their "case" to the more receptive legislators. These are the legislators we have elected to protect the citizenry against the predatory practices of monopolies of which Bell South is one.

The people of Florida are in a sad way when our politicians choose to be "educated" by lobbyists rather than devote some of their ample well paid time to learning about the issues for themselves.

Phone rate ruse won't wear well with voters

Of all the nitwitted, mouth-breathing, pasty-faced, greasy-palmed, leisure-suited, lousy, round-heeled, immoral, unfair, paid-for, slimy, arrogant and not-very-good things that our Florida Legislature is capable of...

This takes the cake. This is one of the all-time piperroos.

I am begging. Please, please, please, please let the Legislature vote to double the local telephone bills of the people of Florida this spring.

I want to see the massacre.

I want to see polyester-wearing politicians tarred and feathered in this fall's election.

I want to see the members of the Legislature trapped, once and for all, unable to play this game any longer.

Here is the deal.

There is a plan in the Legislature to allow telephone companies in Florida to start raising their local rates, a buck or two a year, until they get somewhere just shy of $24 a month.

Here in most of the Tampa Bay area, we pay $11.88 a month to GTE. Raising that to just shy of $24 a month would be, let's see here, let's take out the calculator... why, about double.

And why? Why does the Legislature want to double your phone bill?

To help you, that's why.

If they can jack up local rates, they say we all will be better off. Florida will be more attractive to other telephone companies, and they will come down here and compete. (Something tells me they will not "compete" their way back down to $11.88 a month.)

The telephone companies love to say, in a patronizing way, speaking of their local customers sort of like they were inconvenient house pests, that local rates are far too low. Local rates are "subsidized" by all the other money the companies rake in.

No kidding, Sherlock.

Sure, local rates are subsidized. And the napkins you get at a restaurant are "subsidized" by what you pay for your food. Unless, of course, they put a separate napkin charge on your bill.

In this newspaper, everything that isn't an advertisement is "subsidized," too. This is like saying that we're going to start charging extra for the articles.

Here is the real story.

For many years now, the long-distance guys, such as AT&T, were at war with the local guys, such as GTE and BellSouth. The local guys charged the long-distance guys a bundle for access to their lines.

But now, they have gotten smart and have lined up on the same side — against you. The local guys will charge the long-distance guys less, and you more. No wonder they all love it.

With all of them pushing in the same direction, it is easy to roll the Legislature right over. Hello, sailor.

This is more than just a bald-faced lie. It is a double lie, a lie on top of a lie, and a cheat on top of a cheat. I use the words "lie" and "cheat" deliberately and with their full meaning.

The Legislature told the people of Florida a direct lie in 1995 when it stopped regulating the profits of local telephone companies.

On that day (soon after the phone companies bought a lobster dinner for 40 lawmakers), the Legislature waved a magic wand and said local phone service was not a monopoly anymore. It declared that there was plenty of "competition" for your dial tone.

Well, is there?

How many people have knocked on your door, trying to sell you a dial tone? How much choice do you have?

Odds are you are still the captive of the monopoly. That monopoly can make as much money as it wants, no limit, as if this were still 1900, and Teddy Roosevelt had never busted the trusts.

And now, the Legislature says, those monopolies should be allowed to double the rates they charge their captives?

Sure. Right.

Here is what is not going to happen:

They will not be able to do it, sneak home and get re-elected quietly.

Phone rate legislative

Palm Beach Post Staff and Wire Reports

A proposal designed to increase local phone rates Monday once again stalled in the House Utilities and Telecommunications Committee, the panel that just six weeks ago voted to double them over the next six years.

Committee members quickly backed away from the original measure after a public outcry and after prominent GOP leaders denounced the idea, particularly in an election year. A second version of the bill allowed a $1-a-month increase per year over the next six years and sent the decision on whether to actually do so to the nonpartisan Public Service Commission. But even that version drew criticism.

"Let's cut to the chase: We're a bit shellshocked," said Rep. Scott Clemons, D-Panama City, who voted with the 14-2 majority in February but who has since shied away from that position.

The latest version simply tells the PSC to figure out how much below market rate, if any, phone companies are charging residential customers, and allows the group to find a way to bring the rate to "fair and reasonable" levels.

After nearly two hours of discussion, committee chairman Rep. Joe Arnall, R-Jacksonville Beach, put off a vote on the measure until at least Thursday.

— Shirish Date

Kill phone rate hike

A committee of the Florida House voted 14-2 in February to double local telephone bills. When the lights went on, the roaches ran for cover, but they didn't die. They may swarm in the House Utilities and Communications Committee today.

The original idea was that lawmakers would take away the subsidy that long-distance access charges provide for local calls, "universal service," as it used to be called. Before deregulation, the same company — Ma Bell — essentially paid the subsidy to itself. Since deregulation, long-distance carriers pay it to companies providing local service.

The plan would have raised Bell-South residential charges to $23.50 from $10.50. When people learned what the committee had wrought, they grabbed their phones and called lawmakers. Suddenly, you almost can't find a lawmaker who bought the idea.

The exception is the committee chairman, Rep. Joe Arnall, R-Jacksonville, a man who won't take WHAP! for an answer. When he sees the tele-lobbyists in their dark-suited ranks, an overpowering urge comes over him to do something nice for them. His committee's staff director, Patrick Imhoff, has the same impulse. Mr. Imhoff, as The Post reported Monday, and his staff have dined out on the phone lobbyists' tab. That's a violation of House rules, but who's enforcing?

Rep. Arnall's latest effort scratches at the local subsidy in the hope that it will become infected. He would order the Public Service Commission to determine how much the subsidy is and find a way to get rid of it by next year.

By the way, if Rep. Arnall has to ask the PSC to find out what the subsidy is, where did he get $13 a month as the cost of the subsidy in the first place? Not from having lunch with the lobbyists; they aren't saying. Rep. Tom Warner, R-Stuart, appeared at one of the committee sessions and warned lobbyists they'll get nowhere until they lay out their costs and justify, with numbers, their demand. He is still waiting for an answer.

The state has the PSC to set rates. We don't need the House for that. The PSC has agreed to the local-rate subsidy, which is as old as phone service. In theory, changing it now would make it possible for long-distance carriers to cut their rates. The theory doesn't say they must. The change would increase the cost of a phone in the home, which is a necessity. Residential phone users control the frequency and duration of long-distance calls and manage the cost that way, without Rep. Arnall's help.

The plan to double phone bills is dead for this year. But if the House sends Rep. Arnall's marching orders to the PSC, doom for the local-service subsidy will be only a matter of time. The roaches will have won.

Dear Chairman Johnson:

As you are well aware, during the 1998 Session, the Legislature passed Chapter 277-98, Laws of Florida, enacting substantial revisions to Chapter 364, Florida Statutes, relating to telecommunications services and the rate structure for intrastate telecommunications services in this State. In this legislation, the Commission was asked to perform several studies and report its findings back to the Legislature on February 15, 1999. As part of the Legislature's mandate, the Commission was specifically asked to conduct a study and render a report as to the fair and reasonable rate for residential basic local telecommunications in the State of Florida. Additionally the Commission was asked to determine and report the total forward-looking economic costs of providing basic local residential service in this State to assist the Legislature in establishing a permanent universal service mechanism.

It has come to my attention that the workshop for the fair and reasonable rate project was concluded on October 9, 1998 with final comments due from the participants on November 13, 1998. It has also come to my attention that the hearing in the universal service docket was concluded on October 16, 1998 with post-hearing briefs due on November 2, 1998. I would like to take this opportunity to express my views with respect to these two reports currently pending before the Commission.

It is important that the Commission's findings be consistent with Federal law contained in the Telecommunications Act of 1996. Section 254(k) of the Federal Telecommunications Act of 1996 mandates that:

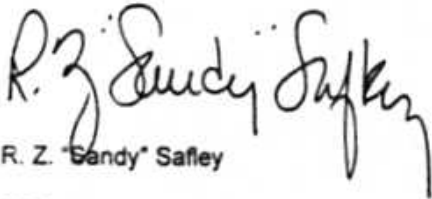

the States, with respect to intrastate services, shall establish any necessary cost allocation rules, accounting safeguards, and guidelines to ensure that services included in the definition of universal services bear no more than a reasonable share of the joint and common costs of facilities used to provide those services.

predatory pricing practices for business and access services. The result, from a public policy prospective, would be to establish new barriers to entry by potential competitors and new entrants. To make matters worse, the cost for this obstruction to competition would be born by Florida's residential rate payers.

The industry-proposals for both universal service and fair and reasonable rates would allocate to basic residential service a disproportional share of the common cost of the facilities used in providing basic residential service. The "loop," i.e., the facilities used for the connection between the central office and the consumer's telephone for the provision of basic service is also used to carry other "vertical services," e.g., long distance, voice mail, call waiting, call forwarding, and other advanced services. Industry claims that residential services are being subsidized are hinged upon the assumption that the residential basic rate should recover the entire cost of the local loop. However, the industry claims are contrary to the Federal Telecommunications Act of 1996. Consistent with the Act, the appropriate revenues to use in the Commission's determination must be the revenues from all services which use, share, and benefit from the use of the loop. I believe the Public Service Commission has the total revenue figures which include the incremental cost and revenue amount. Application of this principle rebuts the assertions of the incumbent local exchange companies and leads to the unavoidable conclusion that there is no need for a universal service fund at this time in light of the fact that the revenue stream from all services provided by the loop is highly profitable. The theory of a universal service fund was not to repay companies for service to outlying areas, or because of lower profitability, but to assure the LEC's ability to serve these areas are not eroded by competition. In fact, the lack of meaningful competition in both residential and business services argues against such an expensive mechanism.

During the floor debates before the House in April, 1998, I was concerned that HB 4785 assumed there is a need for a permanent universal service fund mechanism. Consequently, on April 28, 1998, I had an exchange with the sponsors of the bill whereby they confirmed on the record that there is nothing in the bill which precludes the Commission from including a finding that there is presently no need for universal service support. I am bringing this matter to your attention, so the Commission is aware that this option is available under the bill.

The industry uses the same argument to support its claim that basic residential service is being provided at less than cost; i.e., that basic residential service is being subsidized by other services; that the basic residential service subsidies constitute a barrier to competition and that a rate increase for the residential market will attract competition. The industry claims are unfounded for several reasons. Potential competitors will evaluate their opportunity not just based upon revenues from basic residential service, but based upon revenues from total services, which in Florida are substantial. The experience of the local exchange companies in Florida, including BellSouth, offers compelling evidence that the stalled development of competition in the local residential market, if any is attributable to reasons other than the profitability of the local exchange market. Notwithstanding restrictions imposed upon BellSouth by a Stipulation confirmed by Commission Order in 1994 and codified in Section 364.385(3), Florida Statutes, BellSouth's earnings performance has been impressive. For example, under the Stipulation, BellSouth refunded to customers $123.5 million from 1997 earnings, while earning 15.11% under its sharing agreement that expires at the end of 1997. It is also significant that BellSouth's earnings performance has been achieved with the lowest access rates in the State. Moreover, BellSouth's projected earnings for 1998 represent a 22% return on equity. Over two-thirds of BellSouth's customers are residential customers, and the company is thriving. Sprint and GTE earnings for 1999 are also projected to be well over the 20% range. Clearly, profitability in the local exchange markets is not a barrier to competition.

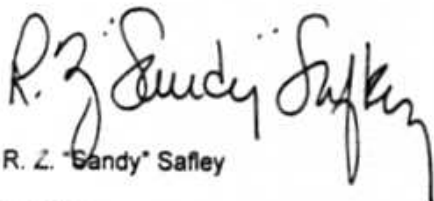

I believe the views set forth above are supported by the evidence and comments which have been presented to the Commission in the pending proceedings. Accordingly, I urge the Commission to make appropriate findings necessary to assist the Legislature in assuring a rate structure for basic and nonbasic service which is fair, just, and equitable to the consumers of this State and consistent with the goals of universal service.

Therefore, the request of the LEC's to raise residential rates for basic telephone service and to establish an expensive permanent universal fund mechanism, if granted, would result not only in a windfall to already very profitable monopoly companies, but also produce a huge revenue stream to subsidize predatory pricing practices for business and access services. The result, from a public policy prospective, would be to establish new barriers to entry by potential competitors and new entrants. To make matters worse, the cost for this obstruction to competition would be born by Florida's residential rate payers.

Thank you for this opportunity to communicate my thoughts and concerns. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or wish to discuss any of these matters further with me.

Re: UNDOCKETED SPECIAL PROJECT 980000A-SP: Fair and Reasonable Residential Basic Local Telecommunications Rates

Dear Ms. Tabert:

The Florida Public Service Commission has scheduled twenty customer service hearings throughout the state of Florida in the captioned project for the purpose of receiving public testimony on local residential telephone rates. A hearing has been scheduled for Ft. Myers on Wednesday, September 9, 1998, beginning at 6:00 p.m. with an estimated ending time of 8:00 p.m. Since citizens are usually familiar with city and county facilities, it is this Division's policy to set these hearings in local governmental facilities whenever possible. To encourage citizen turnout and participation in this proceeding, we are requesting permission to use the city of Ft. Myers Council Chambers on September 9, 1998.

As a matter of information, the Commission is insured under the Florida Casualty Insurance Risk Management Trust Fund, and if necessary, I can forward you a copy of the certificate.

If you have questions or need additional information, please call my Administrative Assistant, Sandy Simmons, at (850) 413-6728.

Fair & Reasonable RATE Study

FLORIDA PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

The 1998 Florida Legislature passed House Bill 4785, a portion of which directs the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC) to study and report its conclusions "as to the fair and reasonable residential basic telecommunications service rate."

In conducting the study, the PSC is to consider four factors: affordability; value of service; comparable basic local telecommunications rates in other states; and the cost of providing residential basic telecommunications service in Florida.

The opinions of consumers are an essential part of any study regarding affordability and value of service. To insure consumers are given an opportunity to express their views, the PSC will conduct a series of 22 public hearings around the state in August, September and October (see schedule on page 4). At least one hearing will be conducted in the service area of each of the state's 10 local exchange telephone companies.

Information from consumers or questions that may be helpful in evaluating the value and affordability of local phone service include:

- ? Who and where can you call without paying additional charges?
- ? How many local calls do you make?
- ? How many calls do you receive?
- ? How do the rates at your current residence compare with rates you have paid in other places you have lived?
- ? How does your local phone service compare with other monthly purchases in terms of value received?
- ? Are there circumstances or alternatives available to you that could lead you to voluntarily give up local phone service?

In addition to soliciting public comment, the Commission has received cost data from Florida's local exchange telephone companies. This information, which includes executive summaries, is available for public inspection at county libraries.

Commission staff is scheduled to file a draft report January 13, 1999 and present its report to the Commission January 19, 1999. The Commission's report is due to the Legislature February 15, 1999.

Customer Statements at PSC Hearings

PSC Commissioners are interested in what consumers have to say about fair and reasonable residential basic telecommunications service rates. One purpose of these hearings is for the Commission to receive comments from the public.

Anyone may make a statement and speaking is an effective way to let the Commission know how you feel about this matter. Those consumers who wish to speak should arrive 30 minutes before the scheduled time.

At the beginning of the hearings, procedures will be set up to establish an order for public testimony. The Public Service Commission staff will have sign-up sheets and consumers will be called in the order those sheets were received. PSC staff will be available to coordinate consumer testimony and assist those members of the public who wish to testify.

Any person who wishes to comment or provide information to PSC staff may do so at the hearings, orally, or in writing. Written comments may be sent to the Division of Records and Reporting, Florida Public Service Commission, 2540 Shumard Oak Boulevard, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-0850. Your letter will be placed in the correspondence file for Special Project No. 980000A-SP. For your convenience, a comment form is attached to this document. You may also call the Commission's toll-free number, 1-800-342-3552, or 1-800-511-0809 to FAX.

Any person who wishes to obtain a copy of the final report may do so by writing to: Director, Division of Records and Reporting, Florida Public Service Commission, 2540 Shumard Oak Boulevard, Tallahassee, Florida, 32399-0850.

BellSouth does not absorb the full cost of local service but receives payments to offset costs from other sources, such as long-distance companies. I do not believe the figures they present for the cost of local service are accurate. I strongly disagree with any rate increase at this time.

Gentlemen;

This is in reference to the Florida Public Service Commission's hearing a various locations throughout the State of Florida regarding studying local telephone basic rates and possible report to the Florida Legislators recommending a rate hike of $23.50. I'm a member of AARP and have spoken to the Florida Public Service Commission at Quincy, Florida --City Hall room 404 on Jefferson Street. I feel strongly that any rate hike for basic service provided by all telephone companies throughout the State of Florida are profitable for all companies. I also feel strongly that any hike such as the above mention figures would create much hardships on the elderly, disabled, unfortunate individuals, etc., who are living on fixed incomes from retirement many decades ago and other incomes such as SSI, welfare, Social Security, etc.

As we all know Social Security has a poor system of using the CPI indicator for providing cost-of-living increases for those retired using the system to provide for their sole means of support in these very expensive times. With prescription medications costing many older Americans, the Disabled, etc., and we all know how their medications are continuing to sky-rocket with higher prices at the drug stores, etc.

Currently ourselves, my wife works at a local hospital and has to have a computer at home for doing some requirements at work. We have an extra phone line which we pay basic rates on both lines, however, we also pay $5 monthly for the second line besides basic rates. We also pay for many extras that I'm sure the telephone company Bell South makes good profit from.

I agree with AARP's position on the proposed basic telephone rate hikes as unnecessary and very high in the current proposed figures of $23.50 monthly from the basic rates currently averaging around $10 to $13 dollars a month current telephone customers pay throughout various locations in the State of Florida.

Dear Chairman Johnson:

I am writing as a follow-up to my letter of June 12, 1998, which addressed Legislative intent regarding procedural aspects of the Commission's study and report to the Legislature on the fair and reasonable rate for local service.

My staff has informed me that on June 16, 1998, the Commission unanimously rejected the Attorney General's petition for a formal Chapter 120, administrative hearing and that the Commission has chosen to proceed with a somewhat informal process which, none-the-less, assures significant and meaningful participation by all who are interested. Such a process comports with my understanding of the Legislative intent for the required study and report.

Dear Chairman Johnson:

It has been brought to my attention by my staff that the Commission is attempting to interpret HB 4785 and speculate as to what the Legislature intended regarding the scope and outputs of the requested reports. It is my understanding that the Commission is grappling with two main areas of how to proceed - namely: whether a hearing is required for the study of a fair and reasonable residential basic local service rate; and what costs are appropriate to a determination of a fair and reasonable basic local service rate. It is my further understanding that the Commission has not yet made a final determination on these procedural issues.

In an effort to assist the Commission in its determination of what procedurally it is supposed to do, I believe it is appropriate that I give you my view, as Chairman of the Committee which wrote HB 4785, of what the Legislature intended with regard to the scope and output of the mandated studies. First, the Legislature did not intend that the Commission embark on a formal hearing in determining a fair and reasonable residential basic local service rate. Second, the Legislature intended that the Commission only consider those types of costs that are relevant to setting a price or rate for residential basic local service.

Given the fact that full factual development is fundamental to the Commission providing its recommendations as to a fair and reasonable residential basic local service rate, the Commission should use the most efficient and expeditious procedures available to it, while at the same time assuring that all parties have a reasonable opportunity to participate. The Commission should limit discovery to that necessary to verify the cost data and analysis provided by the local exchange companies. Otherwise, this undertaking will devolve into a rate case type proceeding, which was clearly not the Legislature's intent. Ultimately, the Legislature intended that the Commission rely upon those procedures which will best provide the Commission with the requisite data and information to reach conclusions as to what is a fair and reasonable residential basic local service rate.

It was not the Legislature's intent that the Commission conduct formal-type hearings for issues other than universal service within the time frames imposed on the Commission. The Legislature believes that there are other fact-gathering proceedings, such as workshops, which give all parties an opportunity to participate, including providing written testimony or making factual presentations, as well as providing the parties with the opportunity to rebut the testimony or presentations of others through testimony and/or questioning. We envisioned that the Commissioners, in addition to the Commission's Staff, would actively participate in and attend these proceedings. We also envisioned that these proceedings would be in addition to the public hearings required by the Act and would be followed up by written submissions of comments of the participants - much like typical post-hearing briefs. I am pleased that the Commission has accepted its Staff's proposed work plan on these items.

Johnson, Julia

The Legislature has given the Commission the responsibility of determining the cost of providing residential local service and the cost relationship with other services because of the Commission's expertise in this area. The Legislature, however, is seeking such a determination in the context of pricing such services. Therefore, the types of costs which the Commission should use in its determination will be costs that are relevant to pricing decisions. Such a determination may turn on whether the local exchange company is price regulated or rate of return regulated. As a matter of efficiency and expediency, the Commission may wish to use the same cost information in determining a fair and reasonable residential basic local service rate as will be developed for the universal service support cost study purposes.

If you have any questions or wish to discuss the procedural matter further, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Joseph H. Arnall

 Re: Additional comments on survey questions

At the June 17 workshop on your phone rate survey, you indicated that interested persons could discuss the survey with staff. As you incorporate discussed changes into the latest draft of your phone customer survey, FLORIDA LEGAL SERVICES, which represents low-income Floridians, believes that you should add questions in areas that are not covered by the current set of questions or our discussed revisions of them, that go to the value of the phone service received, and its affordability. These would include questions covering the full range of charges by local phone companies (connection fees, service fees, etc.); problems with service; and whether customers feel that the current rates and charges that they pay are fair and reasonable. This information is needed for the Commission to make a credible assessment of the value of current service and its affordability. As we indicated at the workshop, asking customers questions that ask them to rank essential services, and that ask them how much their basic rates could go up before they would cancel service, are unnecessary and inflammatory, and should be deleted.

FLORIDA LEGAL SERVICES's other concern for which the June 17 workshop did not provide an adequate forum is the use of the survey by the Commission to make recommendations that consider "affordability" and "value of service." These ultimate uses should substantially determine the choice of questions to include in the survey. "Affordability" quite obviously is in the eye of the beholder, rather than an empirical determination. "Affordability" therefore is a policy determination. It is well-established as the policy backbone for keeping basic residential service rates low enough so that there is near-universal connection to the local exchange. The Commission cannot reinvent this concept, through questions such as "how high are you willing to pay," where the Legislature has directed the Commission to consider this key policy guidepost for setting basic residential rates. Such questions are inappropriate under this standard.

Similarly, "value of service" is a well-established method of determining phone rates that has long been used by the PSC. The focus of the survey on the value of basic residential service alone, excluding consideration of the value of other regulated services, and of relating these values to total costs, would constitute a substantial departure from law if the Commission were to take a similar approach. The authorizing legislation's use of a criterion, "value of service," which has a well-established administrative meaning, requires the Commission to apply this established meaning to this phrase, and not to depart from its meaning by recrafting what "value of service" means to a meaning isolated from the relative value of other phone services, and the total cost of providing local phone service.

Mary does not want to have a court reporter for the workshop tomorrow and her secretary, Maria, is letting Ruth know that we don't need her. She does want to have it audio recorded and I will check with Carol Purvis to make sure that is taken care of.

This was a memo noticing an informal workshop. These usually do not get faxed/mailed to parties/interested persons unless specifically requested by staff.

I do not believe this was faxed/mailed by RAR. However, per special request of Beth K. regarding the preliminary questions, they were mailed on 6/12/98. I just assumed that the informal notice had been handled by CMU.

I don't know the specifics regarding the mailing of the notice to interested persons. Beth did not speak to me regarding this issue. Anyway, to avoid any confusion, we need to fax interested persons the notice as soon as possible. I will also attempt to call interested persons via telephone.

RE: Memorandum to File for Clarification of Records

Ann Cole

Concerning the above-referenced docket, DN 09357-98 was assigned to a UF Program Survey disk received by the Office of Commission Clerk on 08/27/1998. It was determined that this disk could not be opened, rendering the information unreadable and unacceptable for filing. A copy of the originally-filed disk, which was ultimately destroyed in accordance with the procedures of the Department of State, is attached to this memorandum.

Hi Marguerite. We received a memo from RRR/Hoppe with attached introduction, or preamble, to Affordability Survey asking us to make available to all interested persons. It hasn't been faxed to us yet. That is how we have been handling those right.

Please advise. Thanks.

Actually, I asked my bureau chief Patti Daniel about this one, and she said that it doesn't need to go via facsimile to all interested persons. It is sufficient to just put it in the file so that any interested person may be able to access the document if they desire to do so. Does that make sense? Thanks.

Sure does. We just wanted to be sure before we filed it away. Thanks.
