SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY'S REQUEST FOR CONFIDENTIAL CLASSIFICATION
AND MOTION FOR A PERMANENT PROTECTIVE ORDER

COMES NOW BellSouth Telecommunications, Inc., d/b/a Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company ("Southern Bell" or "Company"), pursuant to Rule 25-22.006, Florida Administrative Code, and Rules 1.280(c), Florida Rules of Civil Procedure, and files its Request for Confidential Classification and Motion for a Permanent Protective Order regarding production of document requests made by the Staff of the Florida Public Service Commission at the beginning of Docket No. 910163-TL and housed in boxes labeled "A" through "Z" at the Commission's Offices.

1. During the course of this proceeding, Staff has conducted extensive discovery of Southern Bell. Documents have been delivered to Staff in response to Staff's requests for production of documents and interrogatories. Those documents were the subject of Motions for a Temporary Protective Order filed herein and consequently are currently treated by Staff as confidential materials.

2. Southern Bell herewith files its Request for Confidential Classification and its Motion for Permanent Protective Order for the information contained in the Staff's Requests for Production of Documents. Southern Bell has appended to this Request for Confidential Classification as Attachment "A" a listing of the location in the documents of the information designated by Southern Bell as confidential, together with a statement indicating why the material should be treated as confidential proprietary business information.

3. Appended hereto in an envelope designated as Attachment "B" are two copies of the documents with the confidential information deleted. Appended hereto in an envelope designated as Attachment "C" is a copy of the documents with the proprietary information highlighted.

4. The information deemed to be confidential by Southern Bell and identified in Attachment "A" contains several categories of proprietary information, each of which will be discussed herein.

5. The first category concerns customer-specific information, including name, address, and telephone number of subscribers. This information is entitled to confidential classification, and the Commission has consistently protected such customer-specific information from public disclosure. Moreover, § 119.07(3)(w) specifically provides that information such as customers' names, addresses, and telephone numbers are exempt from the inspection and examination provisions of the Public Record Act.

6. The second category of information concerns employee personnel information, specifically, the social security numbers of employees. This information is clearly confidential and proprietary under Florida Statutes, § 364.183(f), which provides that "proprietary confidential business information" includes "employee personnel information unrelated to compensation, duties, qualifications, or responsibilities."

7. The four areas of employee personnel information that are not, per se, confidential pursuant to § 364.183(f), Florida Statutes, are compensation, duties, qualifications, and responsibilities of an employee. A common sense reading of this list, as well as a review of the definitions of these items as contained in Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary demonstrate that the names of employees in connection with discipline do not fit any of the exceptions and thus are, per se, confidential under § 364.183(f), Florida Statutes.

8. A review of these terms, in the context of § 364.183(f), Florida Statutes, reveals their meaning. "Compensation" is the amount of money or other value that an employee is paid to perform his or her job duties. "Duties" are the particular acts an employee is expected to perform as a part of his or her job. "Qualifications" are the skills, knowledge, and abilities needed to perform a particular job. Finally, "responsibilities" are those things that an employee is obliged to do as part of his or her job. These meanings are confirmed by the dictionary definition of these words. Webster's definitions of these terms are as follow:

- A. Compensation - payment, wages.
- B. Duty - the action required by one's position or occupation.
- C. Qualification - something that qualifies; a condition that must be complied with.
- D. Responsibility - the quality or state of being responsible.

Even a cursory reading of these commonly-understood definitions makes it clear that the social security number of an employee is not encompassed within any of the concepts or definitions set forth above. Thus, the social security numbers of employees do not relate to their compensation, duties, qualifications, or responsibilities.

9. The third category of proprietary information sought to be protected herein concerns proprietary confidential business information relating to Southern Bell's overall strategic views and planning. This information is highly proprietary inasmuch as it discloses Southern Bell's competitive and other environmental assessments and analyses as well as possible Company responses as a result of consideration of such analyses. This information is entitled to confidential classification on the basis that it is information relating to competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair Southern Bell's competitive business if publicly disclosed. Section 364.183(3), Florida Statutes, specifically provides that such information is proprietary confidential business information. If Southern Bell's competitors had access to this information, they could construct reactive plans to impede or even thwart Southern Bell's competitive initiatives. Southern Bell developed this information for use in strategically planning its business operations, and the subject information is not shared outside of the Company in the form and to the extent contained in these documents. If Southern Bell's competitors had public access to this information, their marketing efforts could easily be focused and specifically designed and targeted to take full advantage of Southern Bell's assessment of competitive alternatives. Any advantage gained through such use of Southern Bell's information would cause a concomitant adverse effect on the Company's business. Moreover, this type of information is not made public by Southern Bell's competitors, nor is it shared at all in competitive arenas. Consequently, Southern Bell's competitive strategies are equally entitled to be protected from public disclosure.

10. The inside wire and CPE business are a competitive businesses, and companies participating in that market do not typically share their capital investment and profit margins with their competitors. Section 364.183(3)(e), Florida Statutes, specifically includes "information relating to competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive business of the provider of the information" as proprietary confidential business information. Knowledge of discrete elements in a competitor's cost structure, such as current investment costs in the context of the inside wire business, would make it easier to estimate the competitor's overall costs which must be covered through advertising revenues. Consequently, knowledge of a competitor's costs could help in setting strategic advertising rates in certain markets subject to the greatest competition.

11. In the fourth category, Southern Bell has provided internal audit reports and workpapers. Section 364.183(3)(b) specifically states that internal audit reports are exempt from the Public Record Act. Thus, the portions of the documents which contain such information should be held to be proprietary and confidential.

12. In the final category, Southern Bell has provided information relating to Southern Bell's computer security systems. Disclosure of this information would make it possible for unauthorized individuals to gain access to Southern Bell's LMOS computer system which could harm individual customers and the Company. Thus, this information is confidential business information pursuant to Section 364.183(3) and is exempt from the Open Records Act.

13. In accordance with Rule 25-22.006, Florida Administrative Code, the information for which confidential treatment is sought is intended to be and is treated by the Company as private and has not been disclosed on a nonconfidential basis.

WHEREFORE, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company moves the Prehearing Officer to enter an Order declaring the information described above, and contained in the indicated portions of the attached documents, to be confidential, proprietary business information and thus not subject to public disclosure.

Respectfully submitted this 3rd day of March, 1993.

EXPLANATION FOR PROPRIETARY INFORMATION

A. This information reflects customer specific information. The Commission has always zealously protected customer specific information in order to protect the customer's privacy and prevent a competitor of the customer from obtaining an unfair advantage. As such, this information is classified as confidential business information pursuant to Section 364.183, Florida Statutes, and is exempt from the Open Records Act. Unless otherwise identified, most of this information is found in customer bills or Extended Trouble Histories (ETHs). The fields in which the customer specific information can almost always be found are as follows:

- 1) ETH/DLETH - LN, SA, LOC, NAR, after "A B C". See Example attached.
- 2) Bill - NAME, ADDRESS, SS#, CI:, NAME OF LONG DISTANCE VENDOR, See example attached.

This information may include: customer name, address, social security number, employer, credit information, access information to home, long distance vendor and other private information that should be protected from public disclosure.

B. This information reflects employee personnel information unrelated to compensation, duties, qualifications or responsibilities. As such, this information is classified as confidential business information pursuant to Section 364.183, Florida Statutes, and is exempt from the Open Records Act. This information consists of the employee social security number which can be used to the detriment of the employee.

C. This information relates to Internal Audits conducted by Southern Bell's Internal Auditing Department. Southern Bell considers this information proprietary and confidential business information. As such, this information is specifically classified as confidential business information pursuant to Section 364.183, Florida Statutes, and is exempt from the Open Records Act.

EXPLANATION FOR PROPRIETARY INFORMATION

D. This information relates to Southern Bell's computer security systems. Southern Bell considers this information proprietary and confidential and restricts its distribution within the company. This information could make it possible for unauthorized individuals to gain access to Southern Bell's LMOS computer system which could harm individual customers and the company. As such, this information is classified as confidential business information pursuant to Section 364.183, Florida Statutes, and is exempt from the Open Records Act.

E. This information relates to competitive interests and/or unregulated operations, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive business and/or unregulated operations of Southern Bell. In particular, this information discusses aspects of Southern Bell's CCS, CPE, and/or Inside Wire services. As such, this information is classified as confidential business information pursuant to Section 364.183, Florida Statutes, and is exempt from the Open Records Act.
