Madam,

We are in the bussiness of laundomat (coin laundry). We have only two public telephones within the premise of our laundramat to facilitate our customers . The se telephones are actually running in financially loss which you may notice from the meager income reported earlier.

We did not mean to avoid paying the RAF which is evident from the fact that we did send in the fees based on calculation of percentage of the income . However we missed to read the column saying that minimum payment is $ 50.

We have not received any notice (or may be , we have missed it in the number of routine Letters and communications being sent to us) informing us about the shortage in the payment

We therefore beg to earnestly point out that a fine of $ 500 is very heavy for the innocent mistake.

It is therefore requested kindly to waive this fine . If you decide that some punishment must be imposed it may kindly be settled for $100 or less
