I. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY OF THE RATE CASE

On March 22, 2005, Florida Power & Light Company (FPL) filed a Petition for a general rate proceeding with the Florida Public Service Commission. FPL's Petition, new rate schedules, testimony, Minimum Filing Requirements ("MFRs") and schedules were filed pursuant to Chapter 366, Florida Statutes. FPL seeks approval of a permanent increase in rates and charges sufficient to generate additional total annual revenues of $430,198,000 beginning January 1, 2006 (such amount consisting of a base rate increase in the amount of $384,580,000 and an increase in the capacity cost recovery clause of $45,618,000), and for approval of an adjustment in 2007 base rates to produce additional revenue of $122,757,000 (on an annualized basis) beginning 30 days following the commercial in-service date of Turkey Point Unit 5 projected to occur in June 2007. FPL states that the requested increases will provide it with a reasonable opportunity to earn a fair rate of return on the Company's investment in property used and useful in serving the public, including a 12.30% rate of return on the Company's common equity capital.

In connection with its petition for an increase in rates, FPL also is requesting: a transfer of the remaining portion of gross receipts tax currently in FPL's base rates to the separately recovered line item on customers' bills; the approval of certain changes to existing rate schedules; the adoption of three new rate schedules; the replacement of one and the closure and eventual termination of another existing rate schedule; changes in existing service charges; and other related adjustments.

FPL is currently operating under a revenue-sharing plan resulting from a stipulation approved by the Commission in Order No. PSC-02-0501-AS-EI, dated April 11, 2002 (the "Stipulation and Settlement"). The Stipulation and Settlement provides that the Company will not seek an increase in base rates that would take effect before January 1, 2006. FPL's Request is consistent with the Stipulation and Settlement.

The projected period January 1, 2006 through December 31, 2006 serves as the test year on which FPL has calculated its revenue deficiency in this case. The test year in a rate case provides an appropriate period of utility operations that may be analyzed so the Commission can set reasonable rates for the period the new rates will be in effect. The period January 1, 2006 through December 31, 2006 has been used as the test year for preparing this case because, in FPL's view, it best represents expected future operations.

The details of the rate base, operation and maintenance expenses, and other factors driving the need for rate relief are more fully reflected in the testimony and exhibits of FPL's Company witnesses and the MFRs and schedules filed with FPL's Petition. FPL asserts that the impact of adding new generating facilities alone will result in significant incremental revenue requirements in 2006, the first full year of operation for Martin Unit 8 and Manatee Unit 3, and in 2007 when Turkey Point Unit No. 5 is placed into service. The projected installed costs of these three units are $403.6 million, $483.2 million, and $580.3 million, respectively. Further, the Company's capital expenditures for its nuclear division between 2005 through 2007 are expected to exceed $780 million, including $520 million for nuclear reactor vessel head and steam generator replacements. Incremental additions to transmission and distribution plant in service between 2002 and 2006 are projected to increase by $2.4 billion. FPL's total electric plant in service is projected to increase by over $5 billion from 2002 (the date FPL's base rates were last established) and 2006, the test year.

Regarding the Storm Damage Reserve balance, FPL projects the need to increase the annual accrual by approximately $100 million in order to rebuild and maintain a reasonable reserve. This projection does not include recovery of the current deficit balance in the Storm Damage Reserve, and is predicated upon the Commission maintaining its existing approach to the recovery of storm restoration costs: the establishment of a reserve amount sufficient to cover most storm events, and the opportunity to seek relief, including recovery of prudent and reasonable storm restoration costs in excess of the Storm Damage Reserve, in the event that storm restoration costs exceed the reserve. Finally, FPL estimates that annual incremental costs associated with participation in a regional transmission organization structure will average approximately $100 million. FPL asserts that the various cost factors that will impact the Company in 2006 will continue unabated in 2007. In addition, FPL states that its revenue requirements will increase by $122,757,000 on an annualized basis in 2007 as a result of the added capital costs and O&M expenses associated with placing Turkey Point Unit 5 into commercial operation, which is scheduled for June 2007. In order to address this increase in 2007 revenue requirements, FPL proposes to adjust its base rates beginning 30 days after Turkey Point Unit 5 goes into commercial operation. FPL proposes to calculate the amount of this adjustment using the annualized incremental revenue requirements for Turkey Point Unit 5 of $122,757,000; the expected impact in 2007 due to only a partial year of commercial operations is $66,096,000, based on an in-service date of June 1, 2007.

To address the timing issue associated with the differing dates on which the Allowance for Funds Used During Construction will stop accruing for Turkey Point Unit

5 and on which customers' bills will reflect the foregoing adjustment, FPL proposes to recover the resulting under-recovered dollar amount through the Fuel Cost Recovery Clause ("Fuel Clause") by including that amount as part of the fuel cost for the true-up calculations in a future Fuel Clause proceeding.

As a provider of retail electric service to residents of Florida, FPL is obligated by statute to provide such service in a reasonable, "sufficient, adequate, and efficient" manner. Section 366.03, F.S., 2004. In return, FPL's shareholders must be provided the opportunity to earn a reasonable and adequate return on their investment.

Absent the requested rate relief in 2006, the Company's filing projects that it will earn a return on equity of 8.47 % in 2006 and 7.77 % in 2007. These rates of return are below the midpoint recommended by FPL's witnesses as being sufficient to support the needs of the Company and its customers. For these and other reasons detailed in the testimony and exhibits of FPL's witnesses filed with this petition, FPL is respectfully requesting an increase in rates, charges, and adjustment factors that will produce an increase in total annual revenues of $430,198,000 beginning January 1, 2006 (consisting of a base rate increase in the amount of $384,580,000 and an increase in the Capacity Clause of $45,618,000), and $122,757,000 beginning 30 days following the commercial in-service date of Turkey Point Unit No. 5 projected for June 2007. FPL asserts that the requested increases will provide FPL with a reasonable opportunity to earn a fair rate of return on the Company's investment in property used and useful in serving the public, including a range of return on the Company's common equity capital of 11.30% to 13.30%, with a midpoint of 12.30%, assuming no material deviation in the Commission's existing approach to the recovery of storm restoration costs. This range includes a performance incentive of 50 basis points that FPL believes should be provided as recognition of its superior overall performance and to encourage continued performance achievements.

II. COMPARISON OF THE PRESENT AND PROPOSED RATES FOR MAJOR SERVICES

Attached to the end of this synopsis are pages 1 through 18 of FPL's MFR schedule A-3 which provides a comparison for all present and proposed rates, and pages 1-4 of MFR schedule A-3 ("2007 Turkey Point 5 Adjustment") showing proposed rates and the proposed 2007 adjusted rate.

III. ANTICIPATED MAJOR RATE CASE ISSUES

The issues listed below are those that are currently anticipated by the Company to be among the major areas considered;

1. What is FPL's test year rate base?
2. What is FPL's test year working capital?
3. What is FPL's test year cost of capital?
4. What is FPL's test year net operating income?
5. What is the proper Return on Equity for the test year?

IV. DESCRIPTION OF THE RATEMAKING PROCESS

A. What parties are involved in the ratemaking process?

A utility rate case can involve a number of different parties, however, they always involve:

1. The FPSC Commissioners – The governing body of a utility rate case in Florida is the Florida Public Service Commission ("FPSC" or "Commission"). The FPSC is made up of five Commissioners, who are all appointed by the Governor. Upon the filing of a rate case, the FPSC chairman makes a determination as to whether the case will be heard by all five commissioners or assigned to a panel. Those commissioners preside over the rate case, and all decisions on the issues raised in the case will be made based on the evidence presented.

2. The FPSC Staff – The Commission is supported by a staff of over 300 professionals, including attorneys who assist with legal issues, engineers who conduct inspections of various premises and equipment, accountants who conduct audits of utilities relevant accounts, rate and financial analysts, and consumer affairs specialists who investigate complaints filed against the utility. Together, the FPSC staff plays an integral role in assisting the Commission during the commencement of a rate case.

3. The Office of Public Counsel – The citizens of Florida are represented in every major rate case by the Office of Public Counsel (OPC). The OPC is staffed by attorneys, accountants, and rate and financial analysts. The Public Counsel, who is appointed by the state legislature, may also bring in outside consultants who will testify as expert witnesses during a rate case. The OPC will not only analyze the information a utility files, but may also present testimony from expert witnesses and citizens of the state who would like to testify during the course of the rate case.

4. The Utility – As with any proceeding in front of the Commission, the utility itself plays a significant role in a rate case. Through the Officers and support staff, utilities provide critical information concerning its operations, revenues, costs, and future economic forecasts. The utility may call witnesses to testify and may employ outside consultants to serve as expert witnesses.

5. The Interveners – In a rate case, any party whose interests are affected by the outcome of the case may file a petition with the FPSC to be an intervener. As with any other party to a rate case, an intervener may produce evidence, ask questions, and conduct direct and cross examinations of witnesses. Interveners are most commonly consumer, industrial, or commercial organizations and groups, but may also be citizens of the state.

B. What is involved in the ratemaking process? What information is considered?

1. A rate case commences with the utility submitting a letter to the FPSC informing the Commission of its intention to request a rate increase, and subsequently supplying the “test year” and filing date information.

2. The utility next files a formal request for a rate increase. In accordance with Commission Rules, this request must include properly completed Minimum Filing Requirements (MFRs). In conjunction with the filing of direct testimony of its witnesses, a utility’s MFRs provide all parties with information about the financial condition of the utility. The MFRs contain facts and figures about a utility’s costs, investments, and operations for the specified test year. As required by law, it is up to the utility to prove that the requested rate increase is necessary.

3. The Commission must render its final decision on the request within 12 months of the date upon which it determines that the utility has properly completed its MFRs. This period allows the FPSC, along with the OPC, and any intervener, time to compile all available information about the utility. Information requests may cover everything from what costs the utility incurs to how much it is charged in taxes. These requests may also ask for more information regarding a utility’s construction expenditures, or other operating and financial matters. Meanwhile, the FPSC staff accountants will conduct an audit of the utility’s accounts and records. During this time period, additional testimony may be filed by any party pursuant to the schedule adopted by the FPSC.

4. Before a utility can take any action concerning the rates it charges its customers, the matter must be presented to the Commission in the form of hearings. These hearings are run in accordance with rules that are similar to those that courts employ. Information is presented through the use of testimony, and the witnesses are subsequently subject to cross-examination. When the final decision is reached, only information collected during the hearing may serve as a basis for this decision.

a. The first hearings in a rate case commence not long after filing and are scheduled by order of the FPSC. These “service hearings” take place throughout a utility’s service area and provide the utility’s customers an opportunity to discuss their experiences with the utility. These experiences, positive or negative, provide a basis for future issues that the Commission may choose to investigate prior to the resolution of the rate case.

b. The next set of hearings are much more technical. This set affords the parties an opportunity to present witnesses and to cross-examine other parties’ witnesses. The information collected at these hearings is more focused on the financial issues that are being decided and testimony is usually quite extensive. It is not uncommon for these hearings to continue for a number of days. As information about various costs or expenditures is presented, the Commission is charged with determining which costs are necessary and prudent. Those that are not deemed to be necessary and prudent are excluded from the utility’s rate base and consequently not charged to the ratepayers.

c. Just as the rules are quite similar to those that a court uses, the hearings also are recorded by a court reporter. The court reporters type out everything that is said during the hearings and create transcripts of the day’s events. In bigger cases, these transcripts can total hundreds, if not thousands, of pages.

5. When the hearings are over, the parties then must summarize their legal position and arguments in the form of legal briefs, and file them with the Commission. The FPSC staff then evaluates these briefs in light of the evidence received at the hearings and develops formal recommendations that the Commission considers as it makes its final decision. All information filed with the Commission is made available to the public in Tallahassee except for information determined to be proprietary confidential business information that is exempt from public disclosure. The utility’s MFRs are made available to the public in the utility's offices located in Juno Beach and Miami and at the locations listed in Section VI, below.

6. The final decision is recorded on a vote sheet, which lists the numerous issues that require a decision to be made by the Commissioners. Reviewing the information can be quite time consuming, and in larger cases, this process may require several days work.

7. The final step in a rate case is for the FPSC staff attorneys to prepare an order that states the background of the rate case, the decisions made, and the basis of those decisions. This order will also discuss any changes in the utility's rates, and the dates that these rates are to take affect. Upon the issuance of the order, any party may request that the FPSC reconsider any particular decision. Following this reconsideration, a dissatisfied party may appeal to the appropriate court.
