L. A. MILLER CPA • PSC

To the Board of Directors Heartland Communications Internet Services, Inc. 1301 Broadway Paducah, Kentucky 42001

I have compiled the accompanying balance sheet of Heartland Communications Internet Services, Inc. as of March 31, 2004, and the related statements of income, retained earnings and statement of changes in cash for the year then ended, and supplementary data, in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

A compilation is limited to presenting in the form of financial statements and supplementary data information that is the representation of management. I have not audited or reviewed the accompanying financial statements and supplementary data and accordingly, do not express an opinion or any other form of assurance on them.

The company has not recorded accounts payable balances currently, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The effects of these departures from generally accepted accounting principles has not been determined.

NOTE A - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT FORECAST ASSUMPTIONS

This financial forecast presents, to the best of management's knowledge and belief, the Company's expected financial position, results of operations, and cash flows for the forecast period. Accordingly, the forecast reflects management's judgment as of October 19, 2002, the date of this forecast, of the expected conditions and its expected course of action. The assumptions disclosed herein are those that management believes are significant to the forecast. There will usually be differences between the forecasted and actual results, because events and circumstances frequently do not occur as expected, and those differences may be material.

The major assumptions inherent in the forecast are based on an incremental increase in sales due to an aggressive product repositioning and early market penetration. The Company is already positioned to be the first internet service provider in the area to offer true high speed internet services, coupled with local and long distance telephony and digital, or high-definition video services. The details follow.

Net Sales

Currently, the Company provides a wide range of Internet services including dial-up and DSL connectivity. The Company is also a 50% owner of a licensed, competitive local exchange carrier (CLEC), which it utilizes for telephony service to its Internet customers as well as providing service to the competition. A local power service provider has approved plans to lay a fiber optic loop around the Paducah area. The Company is well positioned to access this loop in order to enable true fiber-to-the-business (FTTB) and fiber-to-the-home (FTTH) technology. By combining this opportunity with the established Internet/CLEC structure, the Company is planning aggressive market expansion into Western Kentucky and Southern Illinois offering high speed Internet, telephone and video services in bundled and unbundled packages.

Historic sales growth has shown a 25% to 40% annual increase since startup. The 2003 forecast assumes the remaining three months of the year continue this trend using growth of 25%. The assumptions over the remaining forecast period are as follows:

- 16% sales growth of existing Internet customers with proportionate product mix.
- Introduction of local telephone services as an alternative to existing providers; the model assumes an average of 2 lines per small business customer at $ 100 per month per customer with 500 customers in 2004, growing to 2,000 by year 2006. Using this as a test market, residential service begins to roll out in January of 2005.
- Introduction of long distance service to small business at $0.05 per minute with 500 customers in 2004, growing to 2,000 customers in 2006. Residential market penetration begins in January of 2005.
- Addition of 500 business customers in 2004 due to bundled package and lower rates. Assuming 2 - 3 DSL connections per subscriber at $150/month up to 2000 by year end 2006. This is accomplished through Introduction of high-speed (100mb) data and video conferencing services, at speeds up to 75 times DSL rates. Video sales to this market beginning January 1, 2005 at $ 40.00 per subscriber for basic service.

HEARTLAND INTERNET, INC. NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Several factors combine to give the Company such a healthy growth record. Sales of existing services are increasing based on demand for more bandwidth, which is caused by the multimedia explosion and a growing dependency on Internet communication. The addition of product offerings (already beginning with technical service, data storage and retrieval) combined with increased bandwidth, telephony and video, will help solidify long-term growth. The Company is essentially building a locally owned and operated multimedia alternative to what most consumers see as a complacent, sluggish, and unresponsive supplier base. The Company's well focused, customer oriented staff and philosophy has created a brand loyalty which fosters continued growth and a customer base eager to consolidate media services while supporting the local economy.

With the infrastructure nearly in place to create a regional phone service across Southern illinois and Western Kentucky without long distance charges, and ample capacity for expansion, the Company is on strong footing to guickly gain market share.

Cost of Sales

Circuit charges necessary for connecting with national telephony providers have historically been the single largest cost to the Company. These charges represented 86% of historical cost of goods sold and, prior to the creation of the CLEC, represented a 45% charge against sales. Since the inception of the CLEC, this charge as a percentage of sales has fallen below 35%. For 2004 forward, the actual cost of bandwidth per customer is calculated based on circuit charges and the increased bandwidth required for the high-speed service including loop access charges. The result is a blended bandwidth charge, which further reduces this component of Cost of Goods Sold to 31% of related sales. This is a blend of Fiber-to-the-Business customers and existing DSL, T1 and Dial-up customers.

Other cost of goods sold includes resale cost on moderns and other equipment and CLEC charges for telephony, which increase in proportion to sales. The remaining items in cost of goods sold are incremental to the expanded telephony services, which include $ 10 per line per customer per month charge for local connection and $0.02 per minute charge for long distance coverage.

General and Administrative Expenses

The significant changes in General and Administrative expense are as follows:

Nature of Operations

Stlino15

Heartland Internet, Inc. was incorporated under the laws of the State of Kentucky on February 24, 1997. The Company is in the Internet service provider business offering network and Internet solutions to business and residential customers in Western Kentucky and Southern Illinois. These services include dial-up and DSL Internet connections, web site nosting, and e-mail services. The Company provides credit in the normal course of business to its customers and performs ongoing credit evaluations of those customers. It maintains allowances for doubtful accounts based on factors surrounding the credit risk of specific customers, historical trends, and other information. Credit losses, when realized, have been within the range of the Company's expectations and, historically, have not been significant.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation expense is calculated by the straight-line method. The depreciation methods are designed to amortize the cost of the assets over their estimated useful lives.

Maintenance and repairs are charged to expenses as incurred. When assets are retired or otherwise disposed of, the cost is removed from the asset accounts and the related depreciation reserve is adjusted with the difference being charged to income or expense.

Use of Estimates

Management uses estimates and assumptions in preparing financial statements. Those estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and the reported revenues and expenses.
