Dear Oscar

It took one day to exhaust all of the rebate funds for 2011 in the Progress Energy service area. What better proof that rebates don't work, but only give away free money to the quick and stall future sales waiting for the next funding; or is that the purpose? W

Re: Proposed Progress Energy rate increase.

My wife and I are retired and on a fixed income. Our energy bills are almost twice as much as our property taxes which together are more than our mortgage most months. This has to stop and the only way to do it is by backing off all these bureaucratic requirements to force Utility Companies to adhere to some "pie in the sky" environmentalist philosophy. I would much rather see the money used to help customers fund there own energy improvements.

Sincerely

Subject: Rate Increase

Commissioner Skop,

This email is in response to the up-coming meeting with Progress Energy next month to decide whether or not Progress Energy can increase its rates on customers. I implore you to reject that increase until the economy picks up to a more positive upswing and pace. Personally, the recession that we just we through nearly killed my family financially. We were able to survive, made "cutbacks" in our budget and pulled through while keeping our house and paying our bills. We are still on a "rocky road" and are in a slow pace towards a full recovery probably for the next two years. One of the areas we cut back was on electricity, air conditioning, etc., because as it is electricity bills are very expensive, but unfortunately electricity is a necessity. Please don't vote to approve this until Florida's economy is more sound. Florida ranks the worst in the nation right now economically due to job loss as well as foreclosures and the decline in home values. This is not the time for an increase of any type.

Kind Regards,
Susan Fernandez
