Richard W. Pardy

Mr. Pardy has spent the last three years developing broadband businesses in Central Florida. From 2005 to 2008, Mr. Pardy was CEO of Columbus Communications Jamaica, where he led a start-up that has become the leading broadband provider on the island of Jamaica. His key accomplishments while at Columbus Communications Jamaica include (1) led the engineering team that conceived and developed a technologically advanced network that launched a 250-channel all-digital cable television service, a 15 Mbps residential data service, and fixed-line services; (2) negotiated, completed, and integrated 10 acquisitions of smaller cable television systems; (3) recruited and led the management team; (4) managed the developments of the first two independent sub-sea cable systems to the island of Jamaica; (5) presided over the regulatory and government affairs of Columbus Communications Jamaica; (6) managed a $250 million capital budget; and (6) grew monthly revenue to $4 million.

Mr. Pardy joined Cable Bahamas in 1994 as executive vice-president, charged with the task of building a nationwide broadband network. Mr. Pardy led a team of professionals through one of the most successful broadband deployments worldwide. From a technical, managerial, and investment perspective, Cable Bahamas has been an outstanding success.

Promoted to the positions of president and chief operating officer of Cable Bahamas in 1998 and chief executive officer of Cable Bahamas in 2004, Mr. Pardy led the management team to launch Cable Bahamas' broadband Internet services and was instrumental in the conceptual development, design, financing, construction, and launch of Caribbean Crossings, Cable Bahamas' submarine fiber network to link the principal islands of the Bahamas with Florida.

Prior to joining Cable Bahamas, Mr. Pardy was senior vice president of Quorum Growth Inc., a Canadian publicly-traded venture capital firm specializing in providing capital and strategic advice to technology and real estate companies. From 1981 to 1991, Mr. Pardy was a senior executive in the business-consulting field in Canada. During this period, Mr. Pardy was an advisor to numerous cable television companies.

Mr. Pardy holds a bachelor of commerce (with honors) from Queens University at Kingston and a master of business administration from Memorial University of Newfoundland.

Andrew Kissenberth

Mr. Kissenberth brings more than 18 years of telecommunications experience to the company. Andrew has extensive experience in sales, marketing, operations, and customer service.

Prior to joining the Company, he completed 10 successful years with Level 3 Communications. His tenure began with EPIK Communications in 2000, which merged with Progress Telecom in 2004. Ultimately, Level 3 acquired these companies in 2006. While at EPIK, Andrew was a director of the company and focused on sales, marketing, network expansions, and business development activities. EPIK was a leading carriers' carrier in the southeastern United States with key assets on the East Coast connecting the Caribbean, Central America, and South America. Mr. Kissenberth and his team were responsible for supporting all of the carriers based in North America and Europe. After being acquired by Level 3, Andrew was responsible for growing wholesale revenue in the Southeast.

Mr. Kissenberth began his telecommunications career in Atlanta with MCI Telecommunications Inc., telemarketing to small and medium-sized businesses nationally. Andrew continued to excel year after year and was consistently promoted for his accomplishments. Mr. Kissenberth completed his career with MCI after seven years of top performance in both enterprise and wholesale sales.

Mr. Kissenberth holds a bachelor of science in sports management from the University of Florida, 1993.

Arthur P. Haas

Mr. Haas has been employed in the communications industry as vice president and treasurer of the Internet and web hosting division of e.spire Communications Inc. with responsibility for overseeing finance, accounting, M&A, human resources, customer call center and facilities including risk management. In addition, Mr. Haas served as vice president of finance and administration for the book publishing division of the Los Angeles Times (Times Mirror Corp.) and vice president of finance and administration for the professional television division of Philips Electronics.

Mr. Haas holds a Bachelor of Arts in Accounting from Long Island University, a Masters in Business Administration from Western University and a CPA from the state of New York (inactive).

Brenda Kincaid

Ms. Kincaid has over 15 years experience in human resources and accounting in various industries including advertising/public relations and E-learning.

Ms. Kincaid holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Education from Northeast Missouri State University and holds a current Professional in Human Resources (PHR) certification.

John C. Pietri

Mr. Pietri has been involved in the cable television industry for over 35 years most recently as Senior Director of Plant Engineering at Bright House Networks overseeing design and operations for their Central Florida Division. Prior to Bright House Networks, Mr. Pietri served as Sr. Vice President of Engineering for Charter Communications managing all technical operations of the corporation. Mr. Pietri also served as Sr. Vice President of Engineering and CTO of Marcus Cable prior to its merger with Charter Communications.

Mr. Pietri was honored by his peers by being inducted into the Cable TV Pioneers in 2002. Mr. Pietri attended the University of Wisconsin – Oshkosh.

Joshua Foster

Mr. Foster brings 30 years of experience in the computer and telecommunications industries and a vast knowledge of voice and data systems integration. Mr. Foster started his career in the U.S. AirForce, obtaining a rank of technical sergeant in six years. Mr. Foster was instrumental in the air force's adaptation of computerized telephone systems and cryptographic transmission systems.

Mr. Foster developed an operational support system (OSS), debit card prepaid platform, and numerous integration systems in the CLEC industry. On behalf of telecommunications companies in Central Florida Joshua has designed, and implemented telecommunications networks deploying TDM, digital voice service, vDSL, cable modems, metro-Ethernet and security systems

On a global scale, Mr. Foster has integrated voice and data networks, and services in the United States to India, Hong Kong, and Brazil.
