Comments : we need a better system. Home generator systems on the ground level could be accessed by repairman. No high wires. With a Watson Magnet Motor system that can recharge the back up batteries continuously for any home or business. Elon Musk is producing home battery back up power that is good for 3 hours. With the magnet motor running a generator, the power could be continuous. The magnet motor uses a linear to rotary motion. A high pull force is needed and can be achieved using less wattage than it takes to run a normal electric motor generator. Thus allowing the generator to recharge a low voltage battery on the go while the excess wattage from the main generator keeps the main batteries charged. This device has received a US Patent 7233087. Congress and the US Army are aware of this device. No tax revenues from Gas or Oil is the main problem of implementing this technology and of course stock market money. No pollution and better health benefits are possible in the future.
