Subject: FPL increase?

I am just curious as to why FPL feels the need to raise our rates? Sure there were storms, sure they suffered losses, but so did we, the consumer. FPL chose to provide power and services as their business, so this is part of their business, you win some, you lose some. So far all of their so-called improvements have done nothing for the consumer and everything for them. Tell me why when there is an over abundance of natural gas that we should pay more? Also, when they recoup said losses will our rates go down? I think not. Please think again before allowing the rate increase.

Thank You
