To Whom It May Concern,

On behalf of the City of Palm Beach Gardens, I would like to extend our sincere appreciation and commendation to Florida Power & Light (FPL) for their continued partnership and exemplary service.

FPL has consistently demonstrated its commitment to excellence and responsiveness, playing a vital role in helping the city provide the highest level of service to our residents. Good morning,

I was scheduled to speak at the hearing this morning, speaker #980, but had to drop off the line after an hour. Thank you for providing this opportunity as an avenue to provide comment. Please find below the prepared comments:

Good morning and thank you for the opportunity to speak today. My name is Ann-Marie Taylor and I am an Associate Vice President at Palm Beach Atlantic University, an FPL customer, and I am also a personal FPL customer. I am not aware of any financial benefit or representative conflict that should be disclosed at this time.

I was asked by FPL to participate in this hearing, and I want to begin by acknowledging the understandable concerns many have when it comes to rate increases. None of us want our utility costs to rise. That said, we also understand the importance of investing in resilient, modern infrastructure that can better serve our communities—especially as demand grows and climate events become more frequent and intense.

From our experience, FPL has proven to be a proactive and reliable partner in these efforts.

They've played a role in helping us improve energy reliability on our campus—keeping our operations running smoothly and helping us avoid unnecessary disruptions. When outages do occur, they've been incredibly responsive, prioritizing our needs quickly and professionally. That kind of attention to detail and responsiveness makes a meaningful difference in our ability to function day-to-day.

FPL has also worked alongside us on energy-saving ventures, offering insight and support that has helped us operate more efficiently and sustainably. These initiatives are not just about cost savings—they're about smarter energy use and environmental responsibility, and we appreciate FPL's leadership in that space.

I also want to speak to the quality of the people behind the organization. I've had the pleasure of working with Robert Weese, our FPL account representative, for many years—even before I came to my current role, when he served in the same capacity with my previous employer. His professionalism, attention to detail, and willingness to engage directly with our team have been consistently outstanding. He truly embodies the partnership we've come to value with FPL.

So, while no one welcomes higher rates, we do recognize the value of proactive investment. Based on our direct experience, we trust that FPL is approaching these improvements with intention, care, and a long-term commitment to service excellence, and that through this process will collectively arrive at a reasonable rate that will have the intended results that I have already mentioned.

We appreciate and value our partnership with FPL and thank them for their continued support.

We are writing to ask that this historic rate hike on your customers be reduced. We are senior citizens who have lived here for 15 years and are your customers. We have a limited income.

We realize your company has increased expenses also. It seems that you should compromise and go for a smaller hike. That would show you are concerned for your customers as well as your bottom line.

Sincerely,
Joanne and Richard Collins
