ORDER APPROVING TARIFF

BY THE COMMISSION:

On June 12, 1991, AT&T Communications of the Southern States, Inc. (ATT-C or the Company) filed a revised tariff to make textual changes to its PRO WATS service. The Company requested that the filing be made effective June 12, 1991.

PRO WATS is a one way, multipoint service which allows a customer to originate outbound WATS calls via customer-provided local exchange access lines and to terminate such calls to points within Florida. It is currently available to the general public at a discount on all ATT-C intrastate-direct distance dialed calls (DDD). There are no recurring charges for PRO WATS. This service is only available to those customers who also subscribe to ATT-C's interstate PRO WATS.

The June 12, 1991 filing amends the current filing by simply adding one sentence. That sentence specifically provides: "The non-recurring service order charge will not apply when an AT&T PRO WATS customer moves from its present location, and within 30 days, subscribes to AT&T PRO WATS at its new location." ATT-C does not currently collect the non-recurring charges. The instant filing is designed to more accurately reflect ATT-C's current billing practices.

Based on the foregoing, it is

ORDERED by the Florida Public Service Commission that ATT Communications of the Southern States, Inc.'s tariff filing described in the body of this Order is hereby approved. It is further
