ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO ESTABLISH
INDEPENDENT CASE SCHEDULE

On June 22, 1993, Florida Power Corporation (FPC) filed a Motion to Establish an independent case schedule for the above captioned dockets. In its motion FPC requests that we separate these dockets from the conservation goals dockets so that the Commission may consider FPC's revenue decoupling and DSM incentive proposals on a more expeditious basis (the goal setting proceedings are currently scheduled to extend into 1995). On June 29, 1993, the Legal Environmental Assistance Foundation, Inc. (LEAF) filed a Motion in Support of Request By Florida Power Corporation to Establish Independent Case Schedule.

FPC's revenue decoupling and DSM incentive proposals were filed in April, 1993. On May 13, 1993 and June 2, 1993, workshops were conducted concerning the Conservation Goals Rule and the Florida Energy Office Study of Conservation in Florida. After the two workshops staff proposed that FPC's decoupling and incentive dockets be heard with FPC's conservation goals docket. Under staff's plan, the case schedules for these dockets would have been identical, and the hearings consolidated, so that testimony on FPC's decoupling and incentive proposals would be heard at the conservation goals hearing. The basis for staff's proposal is that the incentive and decoupling issues are so closely tied to conservation goals that they should be heard together.

Although we agree that the decoupling and incentive issues are closely tied to the issue of numeric conservation goals, we do not wish to delay bringing the decoupling and incentive proposals before the Commission. If the programs are in place for a short time before the goal setting process, information obtained as a result of their implementation may be useful to the Commission in setting conservation goals.
