ORDER APPROVING TARIFF FILING

BY THE COMMISSION:

AT&T Communications of the Southern States Inc. (ATT-C) has filed a proposed tariff to extend the IntraLATA Usage Incentive promotion from July 3, 1994 through August 31, 1994. The IntraLATA Usage Incentive promotion was initially made available from April 2, 1994 through June 30, 1994 and allows customers who access intraLATA services through a Private Branch Exchange (PBX), or other systems with Automatic Route Selection (ARS) capability to receive a one-time bill credit of $250 toward their 10288 intraLATA usage, if they meet or exceed $150 per month in intraLATA usage charges for a twelve (12) month period. For those customers who do not have automatic route selection system capability, ATT-C will provide a one-time bill credit of $355 per auto dialer to those customers who use auto dialers to route their intraLATA traffic to ATT-C. The maximum credit available varies by the amount of intraLATA billing and the number of auto dialers used:

Minimum Monthly IntraLATA Revenue	Maximum Number of Auto Dialers Eligible	Maximum Credit
$150.00	3	$1,065.00
500.00	4	1,420.00
875.00	5	1,775.00

Rule 25-24.485 (1)(i), Florida Administrative Code, restricts promotional offerings to 90 days during any one year period. The proposal to extend the IntraLATA Usage Incentive promotion will exceed the 90 day limit. Upon consideration, we approve the
