reduction scheduled for 1995 under the Settlement Agreement was to be effective on October 1, 1995. Because of the lengthy procedural schedule in this docket, BellSouth's tariff containing the ECS proposal could not become effective on October 1, 1995. Thus, the benefits of BellSouth's ECS plan have already been delayed over two months. There is no need to delay further. BellSouth stands ready and willing to make ECS available on December 18, 1995. On December 18, 1995, BellSouth would begin billing ECS rates for ECS calling. Because of the number of offices involved, the ECS dialing will be provisioned as shown on the proposed conversion schedule which is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Permissive dialing will be in place until all offices are converted (this is the same procedure that was used during the implementation of the ECS that is currently in effect). BellSouth will implement the appropriate credit to its customers to reflect the period from October 1, 1995 through December 17, 1995, i.e., the time period for which the ECS plan is not in effect.

4. The order's implementation date of January 1, 1996 presents severe problems to BellSouth in the form of adverse effects on customer service, possible systems outage, and delays in year end processing. At the end of the calendar year, BellSouth is required to gather various information and records from its billing system in order to make year-end reports required by this Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, and the Securities and Exchange Commission. This, coupled with normal end-of-month processing, places a tremendous burden on BellSouth's systems. In order to implement BellSouth's ECS plan, it is necessary to make changes to BellSouth's billing systems, including the customer on-line system used by BellSouth's service representatives. If BellSouth is forced to perform both the ECS conversion and the year-end systems work simultaneously, then the potential exists for a major systems outage due to overload. Moreover, the potential exists for one or the other of these major projects to be adversely affected, and customers would be affected by the delay that would ensue. Specifically, the billing cycle would be delayed and customers could receive their bills in an untimely manner.

WHEREFORE, BellSouth requests the Commission to issue an order modifying the implementation date of January 1, 1996 for the ECS plan contained in Order No. PSC-95-1391-FOF-TL to a new date of December 18, 1995.

Respectfully submitted this 15th day of November, 1995.
