Gentlemen:

We are writing regarding House Bill No. 4785 (Chapter 98-277, Laws of Florida).

We are residential basic local people. We only call locally. We have no children or family for us to call long distance.

We are being unfairly billed for people who make long distance calls to make them cheaper, while our costs goes up. This is not fair.

It seems as though when you don't have children or family you seem to be punished with higher bills, taxes, etc..

If you make long distance calls you should pay for them. I know we paid through the nose for calling from Orlando to Sebastian when a friend was having heart surgery & that's not that far awy. But when you call from state to state or overseas, its cheaper. Can't understand that. It should be made more fair.

We don't mind paying our fair share but it seems as though things for people like us keep going up & up.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Wilbur Williamson
