Re: Docket No. 980001-EI, Issue 10(c)

Dear Commissioner Clark:

As you know, FIPUG has stated a position in opposition to changing the frequency of fuel adjustment proceedings from semi-annual reviews to annual reviews in order to fully evaluate the impact of such a change. It is my understanding that you have ruled that this generic issue will be addressed in a separate docket by the full Commission.

In this case, FPL proposes to transition to an annual period by using a nine-month recovery period. FIPUG has also stated a position in opposition to FPL's nine-month factor as a transition to an annual reporting period. (Issue 10(c)). FIPUG has discussed the issue with FPL representatives subsequent to the Prehearing Conference to see if a compromise can be forged. The parties will continue to pursue an amicable resolution. In the short run, however, the issue is complicated by the fact that for the period between April 1, 1997 and March 31, 1998, a FPL forecasting error has resulted in a most unusual under recovery of $135,509,164.

If the under recovery is collected over a six-month collection period, the fuel cost increase will be 28.6% for residential customers and 27 to 30% for large industrial customers. These dramatic increases justify the application of equitable principles, such as those proposed by Florida Power Corporation to deal with the increases occasioned by the decoupling under recovery. FPC proposes to spread a much smaller increase than FPL's over a twenty-four-month period.

Susan F. Clark, Commissioner
February 20, 1998

Thus, FIPUG recommends on Issue 10(c) that the Commission retain the six-month factor but spread the FPL $135.5 million under recovery over the next two six-month periods (1/2 in the April-September period and the remainder in the October-March period).

Sincerely,

Vicki Gordon Kaufman
