RE: Florida Power Corporation's Request for Confidentiality in Docket No. 981890-EU

FPC has filed a Request for Confidential Classification for part of document No. 09057-99. This document is FPC's Response to Staff's First Set of Interrogatories in Docket No. 981890-EU, the Reserve Margin docket.

FPC asserts that part of DN 09057-99 contains proprietary information which, if disclosed, would enable competitors to determine the forecasted reliability of FPC's system. FPC states that, for this reason, disclosure of this information would impair FPC's ability to compete with other entities operating in Florida but not subject to the same reporting requirements as utilities under the Commission's grid bill jurisdiction pursuant to Section 366.05(7), Florida Statutes.

Attached is a copy of the redacted pages from DN 09057-99. Also attached is a table containing FPC's reason for requesting confidentiality for these pages, along with staff's recommendation for each request.

Staff recommends that FPC's request be denied in total. Specific reasons for denying FPC's request are included in the attached table.

Interrog.	Rows	Columns	FPC's Reason for Seeking Confidential Treatment	STAFF RECOMMENDATION
5	1999-2008	1999 LOLP Projections	Disclosure of LOLP results and the corresponding expected unserved energy would allow competitors to assess the reliability of the generation resources against which they must compete.	Deny FPC's request. LOLP and EUE data are two commonly accepted measures of a utility system's reliability (another is reserve margin, which is not confidential). These reliability criteria disclose the type, timing, and amount of new capacity needed by utilities. The cost of individual capacity additions is not disclosed if the LOLP and EUE values are made public.
6	1999-2008	1999 EUE Projections
13	77/78-97/98 (winter)	3 (24 hr avg) - 16 (Wtd avg)	Disclosure of the detailed temperature components at and surrounding the time of FPC's winter and summer peak demand would allow competitors and potential capacity suppliers to determine the demand on FPC's capacity resources using readily available temperature forecasts and thus predict FPC's ability to make sales or its need to make purchases.	Deny FPC's request. This data is readily available from other sources such as the National Weather Service.
	1978-1998 (summer)	3 (Peak hr) - 10 (5 hr avg)
20	1978-1998 (summer)	1-3	Disclosure of the correlation between temperature at the time of summer and winter peak demand and the level of that peak demand, as well as weekly patterns of peak demand occurrence, would allow competitors and potential capacity suppliers to determine the demand on FPC's capacity resources using readily available temperature forecasts and thus predict FPC's ability to make sales or its need to make purchases.	Deny FPC's request. This data is available elsewhere. In addition, FPC's methodology is not significantly different from that of other utilities.
21	1978/79 - 1997-98 (winter)	1-3
44	all	1-2 and CR3 1999-2008	Individual unit performance data is highly sensitive competitive information. Disclosure of outage and availability factors would allow competitors and potential capacity suppliers to determine average system capacity availability and predict FPC's ability to make sales or its need to make purchases.	Deny FPC's request. This data is a ten-year forecasted average from 1999-2008 and is not very specific in nature. Annual data for individual units would be extremely sensitive; however, this data was not requested by staff. Staff believes that the requested data would give competitors little, if any, help in predicting when FPC would need to make sales or purchases.

RE: Confidential Material Filed by the Florida Reliability Coordinating Council, Inc. (Document 11680-99)

The Florida Reliability Coordinating Council (FRCC), Inc. filed a Request for Confidential Classification for Document No. 11680-99. The document is in response to Staff's Second Set of Interrogatories in Docket No. 981890-EU, the Reserve Margin Docket. The nature of the information submitted is aggregate Peninsular Florida daily available capacity assessments for each day for the last two years.

The FRCC asserts that all of the information contained in its response to Staff's Interrogatory No. 20 is proprietary confidential business information under Section 366.093(3)(e), Florida Statutes. The FRCC states that the disclosure of this information would impair the competitive business of its members and provide competitors in the wholesale market for power an undue advantage.

Staff is already in possession of approximately two dozen of the individual assessments. The FRCC simply provided peninsula summary assessments for a two year period. In fact, the two dozen assessments staff is already in possession of include individual utility data in addition to the aggregate peninsula summary. Considering that part of the information the FRCC seeks to be held confidential is already in the possession of staff, and that the remaining information is of the same type, staff recommends that the FRCC's request be denied.

A redacted copy was not provided by the FRCC.

COMMENTS OF THE JEA

JEA has reviewed the Topics of Discussion discussed at the January 25, 1999 staff workshop. JEA has also reviewed the Florida Reliability Coordinating Council, Inc. (FRCC) comments to the above docket, and hereby submits the following as additional comments:

1. Reserve Margin Methodology

In agreement with FRCC

2. Load Forecasting

In agreement with FRCC

3. Non-Firm Load

- Current non-firm load as a percentage of Reserve Margin
 The table below lists the current forecast non-firm load as a percent of reserves.

Year	Summer	Winter
1999	42.3%	27.9%
2000	42.0%	27.6%
2001	40.6%	22.0%
2002	31.1%	27.1%
2003	36.1%	19.0%
2004	39.5%	22.8%
2005	42.6%	24.6%
2006	42.2%	27.5%
2007	42.2%	25.5%
2008	42.0%	27.2%

JEA 's non-firm load consists of 5% curtailable and 95% direct control, interruptible load in the Summer; 10% curtailable and 90% direct control, interruptible load in the Winter.

Reasonableness of capping non-firm Load

JEA agrees that there should be a capping of non-firm load. JEA has implemented a 200 MW non-coincident peak cap. The coincident cap equates to approximately 150 MW in the Summer and 100 MW in the Winter of 1999 with a 2% growth of that contracted non-firm load. JEA has found this to be a reasonable cap to date for its customers. JEA plans to monitor and track the appropriateness of this cap.

• Frequency and duration of Interruptions

On August 27th 1998, a training aircraft based at Cecil Field Naval Air Station crashed into the two 500 kV transmission lines coming into the state from Georgia. The crash took the transmission lines out of service immediately. The damage isolated JEA and other major Florida utilities from the North American electric grid.

In order to supply adequate electricity to the firm customers in our service area, the first and only interruption of electric service occurred under our Interruptible/Curtailable Service contracts. Approximately 30 large commercial and industrial customers were without electricity for a little over two hours. No firm service customers lost service.

JEA's current Interruptible and Curtailable Service Agreements do not restrict the frequency or the duration of interruptions.

• Minimum non-firm notice provisions to return to firm

Under the JEA Interruptible and Curtailable Service Agreements service shall be for a minimum initial term of 3 years from the commencement of service. Customers desiring to terminate service under this rate schedule and/or transfer to a firm rate schedule are required to give the JEA a minimum of thirty-six (36) months notice prior to the transfer. For contracts executed prior to December 31, 1997, the JEA may waive this notice requirement upon JEA's determination that there is sufficient capacity to provide firm service to the customer and that allowing the customer to receive firm service will have no adverse effect on the JEA's availability of providing firm service to JEA's existing and projected firm customers for the early termination period. For contracts executed after December 31, 1997, if the Customer elects to terminate this Agreement by furnishing JEA with less than thirty-six (36) months written notice, Customer shall pay an amount equal to 36 months of General Service Large Demand (GSLD) rate demand charges, or execute a General Service Large Demand Rider Electric Service Agreement (GSLDR-5).

4. Reserve Margin Standard

In agreement with FRCC

5. Price Spikes

JEA does not plan to interrupt firm load to avoid a costly purchase.

Under JEA's Interruptible Service Agreement, service is subject to interruption during any time period that electric power and energy delivered from the JEA's available generating resources is required to:

- (a) maintain service to the JEA's firm power customers and firm power sales commitments, or

- (b) supply emergency interchange service to another utility for its firm load obligations only, or
- (c) when the price of power available to JEA from other sources exceeds $300 per MWh.

Customers under this agreement may elect to have the JEA minimize interruptions as described above by purchasing power from other sources during periods of normal interruption (buy through).

JEA does not plan to interrupt firm or non-firm load to make discretionary sales to others.

My firm is listed among the "interested parties" on quite a few FPSC proceedings involving electric utility matters. We noticed recently that the email address for the firm, which is included with our address and phone, is incorrect. We would greatly appreciate it if you can correct this problem.

The correct email address is richzambo@aol.com.

Thanks for your help. Rich Zambo

16. All documents that evidence that "approximately 2,500 MW of non-committed merchant plant capacity is scheduled to be placed in-service in Peninsular Florida in the next five years," as referred to in the prefiled direct Testimony of Tom Ballinger in Docket No. 981890-EU.
17. All documents that support Mr. Ballinger's assertion that none of the planned 2,500 MW of non-committed merchant plant capacity scheduled to be placed in-service in Peninsular Florida in the next five years is subject to a determination of need under the Florida Power Plant Siting Act.

19. All workpapers, including but not limited to data and calculations in electronic form, used to prepare Exhibit No. _____(RLT-1) filed with the prefiled Direct Testimony of Robert L. Trapp in Docket No. 981890-EU.
20. All documents, reports, compilations and summaries which were data sources for Exhibit No. _____(RLT-2) filed with the prefiled Direct Testimony of Robert L. Trapp in Docket No. 191890-EU.
21. All workpapers, including but not limited to data and calculations in electronic form, used to prepare Exhibit No. _____(RLT-2) filed with the prefiled Direct Testimony of Robert L. Trapp in Docket No. 981890-EU.

The documents requested in this public records request are identical to the documents requested by Charles Guyton in his letter of September 7, 1999. Accordingly, the Commission need not separately assemble the documents for my review. If it is convenient for the Commission, I will simply review the documents after Mr. Guyton has completed his review.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter. Should you have any questions, please call me or my law partner, Schef Wright.

Sincerely,
