DISCOVERY

In BellSouth's Response to AT&T's 1st Interrogatories, #26, the second sentence in this response needs to be revised as follows. This addition is required to recognize the drop routing option change that was included in the August 16, 2000, revised cost study filed by BellSouth.

When the user selects the use of rectilinear drop routing, the BSTLM© assumes the drop follows the route path from the DT to the NRP (that point on the road nearest to the customer location).

In BellSouth's Response to AT&T's 1st Interrogatories, #27, the entire response is withdrawn and replaced with the following. This addition is required to recognize the drop routing option change that was included in the August 16, 2000, revised cost study filed by BellSouth.

The BSTLM© as filed on August 16, 2000, allows the user to select from two different methods for drop routing: rectilinear or angled.

Under the rectilinear approach, a DT serving a group of customers is placed on the road fronting those customers' lots. A drop cable for each customer is then routed from the DT along the road to the center of the lot in front of the customer's location (referred to as the nearest road point). The drop is then routed to the customer's building location.

Under the angled approach, the drop is routed from the DT along the road to the nearest lot corner and then angled out to the customer's building location. If a DT is placed along the road between the two lot corners of a customer, then the drop cable for that customer is routed at an angle from the DT directly to the customer's building.

In BellSouth's Response to AT&T's 2nd Interrogatories, #83, $3.64 is withdrawn and replaced with $3.40, as reflected on BellSouth Witness Al Varner's Phase II Corrected Revised Direct Exhibit AJV-1 filed in BellSouth's Motion for Leave to File Corrected Exhibit dated September 5, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to AT&T's 3rd Interrogatories, #128, $25.64 (2-wire voice grade loop) is withdrawn and replaced with $25.56, as reflected on BellSouth Witness Al Varner's Phase II Corrected Revised Direct Exhibit AJV-1 filed in BellSouth's Motion for Leave to File Corrected Exhibit dated September 5, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to AT&T's 5th PODs, #57, all references to line sharing should be withdrawn from this response, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket. In addition, new supporting documentation was provided in Staff's 9th POD, Item 81, dated August 16, 2000, pursuant to the filing of the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on this date. This same response also replaces BellSouth's response to Rhythms Links' POD, Item 3, dated May 19, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to Covad's 1st Interrogatories, #20, the assumption that the ALEC will return to BellSouth with further requests to remove bridged tap on the same facility for 20% of the Bridged Tap Modification orders should be changed to 5%. Therefore, the cost of a return visit 5% of the time is included in the cost of the initial bridged tap removal (not 20% of the time). These work times are based on the assumptions provided by the SMEs regarding this item. These assumptions are reflected in UNE A.17.3 in the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on August 16, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #11, the non-recurring charges as used in the "Computation" column of the table (example in the middle of the page) changed from $60.85 to $83.20 for the First Loop and from $20.65 to $35.12 for each additional loop. The "Charge" column amount would therefore change from $60.85 to $83.20 for the First Loop, from $185.85 to $316.08 for the Next 9 Loops, and from $246.70 to $399.28 for the Total. The cost impact of the first installation charge was noted on Attachment 2, Page 1 of 4, in BellSouth's Final List of Changes filed on August 7, 2000. Similar changes in work times and activities also influenced the cost of the additional installation charges. In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #12, line sharing is not included in this response, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #16, the dispatch rate for outside plant changed from 20% to 38%, based on the assumptions provided by the SMEs regarding this item. These assumptions are reflected in UNE A.1.1 in the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on August 16, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #25, the 52% assumption changed to 100% for the time an inquiry for ULM and ADSL/HDSL will be processed separately is applied to the service inquiry/order processing work times. These work times are based on the assumptions provided by the SMEs regarding this item. These assumptions are reflected in UNE A.6, A.7 and A.8 in the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on August 16, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #43, the assumption that the ALEC will return to BellSouth with further requests to remove bridged tap on the same facility for 20% of the Bridged Tap Modification orders is no longer valid. This assumption was provided by SMEs familiar with this matter and is reflected in UNE A.17.3 in the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on August 16, 2000.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #98, all references to line sharing should be withdrawn from this response, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #106, this response regarding line sharing is withdrawn, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #107, all references to line sharing should be withdrawn from this response, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #108, this response regarding line sharing is withdrawn, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #111, this response regarding line sharing is withdrawn, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth's Response to Rhythms Links' 1st Interrogatories, #112, the Investment Excel Input file named "flvgdig.xls" containing nonrecurring cost inputs for A.6, A.7, A.8, A.13 and A.14 elements changed to three files named "Fl-2w.xls, FL-4w.xls, &

FL_DIG.xls.” In addition, the worksheet labeled WP100, Column B, which provided a detailed explanation of work activities by work center has changed to a series of worksheets that are labeled as Input, Column A. The above changes were noted on Page 4 of the “COST STUDY REVISIONS” in BellSouth’s Final List of Changes filed on August 7, 2000. Many of the original cost study spreadsheets were reformatted to make the calculations easier to follow and to more logically group elements.

In BellSouth’s Response to Rhythms Links’ 1st PODs, #3, all references to line sharing should be withdrawn from this response, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket. In addition, new supporting documentation was provided in Staff’s 9th POD, Item 81, dated August 16, 2000, pursuant to the filing of the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on this date.

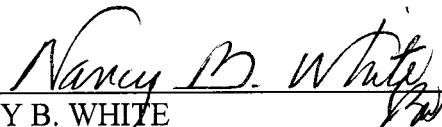

In BellSouth’s Response to Rhythms Links’ 1st PODs, #45, this response regarding line sharing is withdrawn, because line sharing is not being addressed in this docket.

In BellSouth’s Response to Staff’s 5th Interrogatories, #47, the factor reflected in the table for Gross Receipts Tax of 0.9600% is withdrawn and replaced with 0.1713%. In addition, the following comment should be added to the response to explain the reason that this factor changed in the revised cost study filed by BellSouth on August 16, 2000. This factor can be found in the cost study file labeled 99Stuse3.xls.

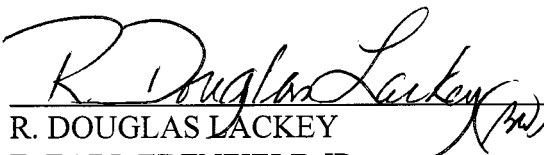

The Gross Receipts Tax Factor was revised to reflect only taxes and related revenues for UNEs.

Respectfully submitted this 27th day of October 2000.
