Re: Verizon Advanced Data Inc.'s Request to Cancel Its Certificates

Dear Ms. Bayo:

With this letter, Verizon Advanced Data Inc. (VADI) requests voluntary cancellation of its interexchange carrier certificate (no. 7589) and its alternative local exchange certificate (no. 7588), in accordance with Commission Rules 25-24.474(2) and 25-24.820(2) respectively. VADI proposes to cancel these certificates because it no longer provides any service in Florida. As the Commission knows, Verizon was formerly required by the FCC to maintain a separate advanced data services affiliate. That requirement has been lifted, so Verizon's advanced data services operation has been reintegrated into Verizon Florida Inc. (Verizon Florida). Verizon Florida is providing service to VADI's former customers under the same rates, terms and conditions as VADI did, and VADI's customer contracts have been assigned to Verizon. Thus, there is no issue relative to treatment of customer deposits and final bills.

VADI provided its customers notice that their services would be transferred to Verizon Florida during the November, 2001 time period. A copy of the notice is enclosed.

VADI understands that it must pay the 2002 regulatory assessment fee to obtain voluntary cancellation of its certificates. Therefore, VADI is including the assessment fee returns and two checks (one each for the ALEC and IXC) for $50, the minimum amount of fee (because VADI has no intrastate revenues for 2002).

Please contact me if you need more information.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "Michelle A. Robinson".

Enclosures

Verizon Advanced Data Inc.

November 1, 2001

To: Verizon Advanced Services Customer

When Bell Atlantic and GTE merged to form Verizon Communications in June 2000, we created an affiliated company to provide fast packet services (including ATM, Frame Relay, and SMDS services) and DSL services. That company, Verizon Advanced Data Inc. (VADI) was intended to meet one of the merger requirements specified by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). As a consumer of fast packet and/or DSL services, you are currently a VADI customer.

On September 26, 2001, the FCC concluded that the merger condition requiring the provision of fast packet and DSL services through VADI was no longer necessary. Therefore, Verizon is going to begin providing fast packet and DSL services through its operating telephone company in your state. It is our hope to complete this transition by the end of 2001 so that beginning in January 2002, your fast packet and/or DSL services will be provided by Verizon Florida and not by VADI. These plans may be subject to pending state regulatory review and approval.

We want to assure you that your current VADI services support team will be available until this transition is complete. At that time, the Verizon Florida team will begin providing you with the same customer support and with the full portfolio of Verizon's advanced data services, as well as the other Verizon services that you currently purchase.* Once this transition is complete, you will be able to enjoy "one-stop" shopping and service for all your wireline telecommunications needs.

We are working diligently to ensure a smooth transition and to continue our important relationship. Please be assured that our focus throughout this change is on you, our valued Verizon customer. If in the interim you have any questions, please contact your account team or your Verizon Representative at the number listed on your bill.

* This includes "wireline" services only and in some states excludes long distance services. A separate Verizon company, Verizon Wireless, will continue to provide your "wireless" cellular and paging services.
