- Note (1) Includes both Centex access and features. Centex access and feature avoided costs are segregated in the "Centrex" worksheet.
- Note (2) Portion considered avoided in relation to total dollars in the primary account group.
- Note (3) During FYE 2000, Sprint began capitalizing administrative software for regulatory accounting. This methodology is consistent with Sprint's accounting records kept in accordance with GAAP. During 2000, Sprint also made a prior year adjustment crediting account 6728 for the amount of administrative software expensed in 1999. The debit side of this prior period adjustment was made to account 195005, Other Noncurrent Assets. The adjustment is reversed here in this study to properly reflect actual 2000 related expense activity. Note that neither the return on the asset account 195005 or any depreciation on this asset is included in this study.

AVOIDED EXPENSE ANALYSIS

This worksheet assigns each avoided expense account to one of 14 product families, based upon the "Avoided Drivers" worksheet.

Company: Florida
 Year: 2000

Account Number	Account Worksheet	Function Code	Function Description	Total Avoided Expenses	Resale Avoided Expenses	Non-Avoided Expenses	Check
			GRAND TOTAL	160,101,084	130,235,709	691,920,742	(6,138,818)
			EXCLUDING OVERHEADS (USED IN 'OVERHEAD' WORKSHEET)	160,101,084		852,021,826

- Note (1) Includes both Centex access and features. Centex access and feature avoided costs are segregated in the "Centrex" worksheet.
- Note (2) Portion considered avoided in relation to total dollars in the primary account group.
- Note (3) During FYE 2000, Sprint began capitalizing administrative software for regulatory accounting. This methodology is consistent with Sprint's accounting records kept in accordance with GAAP. During 2000, Sprint also made a prior year adjustment crediting account 6728 for the amount of administrative software expensed in 1999. The debit side of this prior period adjustment was made to account 195005, Other Noncurrent Assets. The adjustment is reversed here in this study to properly reflect actual 2000 related expense activity. Note that neither the return on the asset account 195005 or any depreciation on this asset is included in this study.
