Issue 2: Did Verizon timely file its appeal of the American Arbitration Association's award according to the parties' interconnection agreement?

Recommendation: Yes. Staff recommends that Verizon's filing of its appeal of the AAA order should be considered timely.

APPROVED

Issue 3: Should TCG's Motion to Dismiss be granted?

Recommendation: No. TCG's Motion to Dismiss should be denied. As a general matter, the Commission has jurisdiction to resolve disputes arising under an approved interconnection agreement unless its role is restricted by a binding dispute resolution provision in the agreement. The agreement in this case expressly provides that an arbitrator's decision resolving an interconnection agreement dispute shall not be final if (1) a party appeals the decision to the Commission, (2) the matter is within the jurisdiction of the Commission, and (3) the agency agrees to hear the matter. The first two prongs of this provision are met, so it is not appropriate to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction.

The Motion and Response do not, however, provide sufficient information for staff to recommend whether the Commission should exercise its discretion to "agree" to hear an appeal under the third prong. Therefore, staff recommends that within 20 days of the issuance of the Order, Verizon should submit a memorandum that (a) identifies the specific factual, legal and policy issues for which review is sought, (b) addresses the reasons that the Commission should agree to review the arbitrator's decision on each issue identified, (c) specifies the type of proceeding that should be held on each issue (e.g., a de novo evidentiary hearing or appellate review based on the record in the arbitration proceeding) and (d) identifies the applicable standard of review for each issue. TCG should then be given 20 days to respond. Staff would subsequently file a recommendation on whether, and under what procedures, the Commission should agree to hear the appeal.

A decision on this matter was deferred to allow Verizon to fire a brief within 10 business days and for TCG to file a Zesponse within 10 business days.
