- 1. If you are providing local service in Florida please complete the attached Tables 1-3.

CBC does not have active CLEC operations in the State of Florida. As a result, CBC does not own, lease or operate Class 5 or similar switches that provide traditional telecommunications services of the types described in Tables 1-3. Moreover, CBC does not provide traditional DS1 or DS3s. Rather, CBC provides two types of advanced data services in and around the Tallahassee area: Type A and Type B services. Type A services provide connectivity of local area networks using Ethernet technology for symmetrical data rates including 1.5 Mbps, 4.0 Mbps and 10 Mbps. Type B services provide asynchronous transfer mode ("ATM") connectivity at rates of 10 Mbps, 25 Mbps, 45 Mbps, 100 Mbps to 155 Mbps. The foregoing services, as noted above, do not appear to fit the information requested in Commission's Tables.

7. Broadband Internet Access.

Not applicable. CBC, the jurisdictional utility submitting this report, provides private line services to a limited number of small and medium-sized business customers in the Tallahassee, Florida area. It is possible that some of those businesses use our private line services to access the Internet, among other things. Because CBC does not market its private line service for "Broadband Internet Access" exclusively, we are unable, absent a special study, to report the precise number of our business customers who may be using the services for that purpose. However, the number of such users would likely to be small or de minimis, given the limited penetration of such services in general in CBC's service territory.

(a.) With this data, we are interested in reporting on an aggregate statewide rather than a per company basis.
