It is a multi-step process. The first step is transfer from NuVox to NewSouth and the name would change to NewSouth (whether or not NewSouth would be a different company code, we in CMP are not sure - but we believe it would be). The second step, it would then transfer to NuVox and the name would change from NewSouth to NuVox. From a practical standpoint, the middle step was only done to satisfy some legal/technical requirement of the requestor. Ultimately, the final name would be the same as the original name on the certificate. The final NuVox name would, however, be a different company code from the original NuVox company because the original NuVox company went out of business and a new company with the same name was formed.

I didn't have anything to do with that. The PSC Consent template gave me two choices - transfer and name change or transfer of control. I felt transfer and name change was more appropriate.

Paula, this is Kay e-mailing from Matilda's computer. they're moving mine at the moment, so i'm making do.

we're working on the agenda. on this rec, it mentions, in addition to the transfer, a name change.

we currently have the docket set up just as a transfer, based on your e-mail back in December, and i'm wondering what the name change would be? when a cert is transferred, it would normally just begin to operate under the name the cert was transferred to. is something other than that happening here?

Kay
