On April 4, 2005, TECO asked if this item could be deferred two weeks. TECO explained that they received a request from a large industrial customer to discuss issues related to this docket - TECO's proposal to recover the costs of selective catalytic reduction through the environmental cost recovery clause. FIPUG intervened in the docket and has no objection to the deferral. This is not a time-sensitive docket and staff believes that the deferral should not create any problems.
