Subject: FPL's request for $34 million charge to consumers for failed coal-fired plant in Glades County

Hello Florida Public Service Commission,

It has been reported in the press that FPL has requested to recover $34 million from customers for its bungled and short-sighted attempt to build a coal-fired power plant near Lake Okeechobee. FPL forged ahead with this proposed power plant without proper concern for the environmental sensitivity of the everglades or the effect of increased carbon emissions on global climate change. It would be wrong to reward this behavior by requiring customers to pay for FPL's mistakes. Therefore I am requesting that the FPSC reject FPL's request. FPL needs to know that it is time to invest their millions in alternative sustainable power production.

Yours,
Michael O'Brien
