Through the Florida Power & Light Company's Sunshine Energy Program, students, staff, and parents at Palm City Elementary School have gained awareness for solar (renewable) energy. We feel very fortunate to have been chosen for this worthwhile educational program.

7/28/2008

Florida Power & Light Company's Sunshine Energy Program has provided many educational experiences for students in the classroom as well as developing awareness for energy conservation. Some features include:

- The solar electricity array at Palm City Elementary School is connected to a panel in the science building. On a sunny day, the panels generate enough electricity to power the lights in the classroom.
- During the 2007 -2008 school year, students have had the opportunity to graph and record temperatures, compare wattage usage on cloudy vs. sunny days, and estimate costs saved by using solar energy.
- During the 2007 – 2008 school year, there was an increase in the number of student science fair projects exploring renewable energy – due to the interest generated by the Sunshine Energy Program.
- Having the solar energy panels prominently displayed outside of the science building on campus generated numerous conversations between students about renewable energy.
- Throughout the year energy conservation tips and recycling statistics were provided to students and staff via our morning news program.
- During the 2007 – 2008 school year, our PTA established a "Green Team", an environmentally friendly group of parents, which initiated a paper and plastic bottle recycling program throughout the school.
- For the 2008 -2009 school year, our school has chosen to print the monthly newsletter on-line with limited copies available in the office for those families without computer access at home.
