Comments:
i have read with interest the lastest report on how FPL has spent the money from the sunshine energy program as a participant almost since inception that fact that they have over 10000000 and are not doing what is required begs the question what are the 38000 customers paying for a system with no benefit -i am reading that fpl they have put solar on a few buildings, residences schools and now publix my question is if we are paying this cost then the power generated should go to us if the systems were paid by us-how does publix benefit do they also get the stae rebates and fedreal tax credits sems that something not kosher is going on here please explain to myslf and the other 38000 participants thanks you
