Q.

According to the Final Report issued by FRCC Event Analysis Team, October 30, 2008 regarding the FRCC System Disturbance and Underfrequency Load Shedding Event Report, February 26, 2008 (Final Report), the root cause of the disturbance was that an FPL field relay engineer manually removed from service, the local primary protection and local back-up failure protection on an energized piece of equipment while troubleshooting an equipment malfunction. Does FPL agree with this conclusion? Please explain why or why not.
