Katherine,

Thank you for bringing this to our attention. Dockets 090144 and 090079 have been consolidated per Order PSC-09-0415-PAA-EI. Docket 090079 is designated as the primary docket in CMS. CLK will place all future filings for Docket 090144 in Docket 090079 unless otherwise instructed. Should any other documents be moved from Docket 090144 to 090079 at this time?

Yes, please enter all of the 2010 events from 090079 to 090144. The staff assignment should be the same. Also, please reflect that these dockets are consolidated and 090079 is the primary docket. The Order that I referenced below ordered that these dockets would be consolidated. Please let me know if you have any other questions.

Thanks for your help!

Katherine,

In CMS, 090144 and 090079 are not consolidated. Normally, one of the dockets will be primary and the other secondary. This could be the reason why they have different event dates. The only way we would update the events is if we received a CASR for both.

Do you want me to enter all of the 2010 events from 090079 to 090144? How about staff assignment?

In CMS, should it be shown that these dockets are consolidated? I would assume that 090079 would be the primary docket? This would have to be done in Dorothy's section.

Since Lee is out of the office, I'll direct my question to you.

Lee,

I was looking at the events scheduled for my dockets and I'm not sure why docket no. 090144 is showing that a revise casr or close docket is due on 12/31/09. By Order No. PSC-09-0415-PAA-EI, this docket was consolidated with Docket No. 090079. Shouldn't the events reflect the same deadlines as those listed in 090079? Please advise.

Thank you,
Katherine
