Subject: A Copy of the Application of Gestatio, Inc. for Discontinuance of its FCC 214 Authority

Dear FPSC Staff Members,

You are receiving a copy of the application due to FCC protocol, which requires your office to be notified of such FCC 214 cancellation filings.

In regards to the following copy of the amendment letter dated January 20, 2011 (submitted with the FCC on February 17, 2011) to the FCC and a copy of the original filing to the FCC dated December 16, 2011, please note that in terms of Page 4 (Exhibit A), a file copy is also being provided to the US Department of Defense in addition to your office and the Florida Public Service Commission (FPSC).

Gestatio had obtained an FCC 214 telecom license in 2005 and it intended to offer mainly VoIP and perhaps some TDM telecommunications services. Unfortunately, it did not get its operations off the ground in terms of sales. It had a limited amount of sales activity until December 31, 2006 by which time, it lost the few customers it had due to attrition.

It held on to its State of Florida telecom regulatory certificates up until 2007 and its FCC Telecom certificates until 2010. At this time, the management of the company has decided to close the company.

Enclosed to the original attached application dated December 2010 is a January 2011 letter of amendment in which the signing officer of Gestatio confirms the facts stated above.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me via telephone or email.

Attn: Mr. Rodney McDonald of the FCC Competition Policy Division, Wireline Competition Bureau.

Subject: Letter of Amendment to the Application of Gestatio, Inc. for Discontinuance of its FCC 214 Authority Gestatio, Inc.

This letter is to amend the Gestatio, Inc. FCC 214 Surrender application submitted December 16, 2010. Per the January 18, 2011 telephone conversation between Mr. Rodney McDonald of the FCC and our regulatory consultant (Mr. Alonzo Beyene), the following clarification is hereby provided.

As required, a file copy of the original application including this letter of amendment has now been sent via mail to the Office of the Secretary of the US Department of Defense, Pentagon, Attn: Special Assistant for Telecommunications, Washington DC 20301.

In terms of clarification, Gestatio obtained its FCC 214 Authorization in 2005 and sought to offer mainly VoIP services and it explored options for possibly offering TDM telecommunications services. It had a limited number of customers that were lost to attrition and hence by December 31, 2006, the company did not have any customers. As such, it cancelled its Florida IXC Telecom Certificate in 2007 that it had obtained prior from the Florida Public Service Commission, since it did not have any activity in that state. It held its FCC Telecom Certificates (FCC 214, FCC 499 Filer ID) until 2010. In 2010, the management of Gestatio decided to make arrangements to close the company and hence, submit the required filings to surrender its FCC 214 Authorization and cancel its FCC 499 Filer ID registration. At no time did Gestatio abandon customers.

We hope this letter of amendment provides the required clarification.
