I'm fully agree with this statement:

We have no option of investing in any other power company, we have no say in how many millions of dollars they pay their C-Suite executives, and we have no accurate accounting for the full scale of political contributions they make each year to influence those in powers to keep FPL in its unchallenged, powerful position in this state.

I know, all corporations want increase their profit, but it will be by improve service, no just increase charges from customers. Other good example of this corporate politic is AT&T.

I think, all politician received contributions from FPL, AT&T and lobby it corporate interest will be charged as corrupted.
