Hi Mr. Kerbo,

I have been working on the name change of your company from Inline Telecom, Inc. to G&G Payphones. You indicated that it will now be a sole proprietorship.

As a sole proprietorship, you do not have to register as a corporation, but according to the Department of State website, sole proprietorships, when not operating under the owner's legal name, must register a fictitious name with the Division of Corporations.

So if still want the name to be G&G Payphones, the name needs to be registered as a fictitious name according to the requirements found at the Division of Corporations

<http://dos.myflorida.com/sunbiz/start-business/efile/fl-fictitious-name-registration/>

Or if you want to operate under your legal name, then no registration would be required.

Please let me know what you would like to do.

Thank you,

Eric Wooten | Public Utility Analyst
