Comments : Why haven't the power lines been installed underground by now? I have heard the argument that it is too expensive, but if you add up the reoccurring costs of having to restring the hanging like new every time we have a storm it could have probably been paid for five times over by now. I live in a complex that is thirty years old and we have underground power feeding our buildings. I understand that it's more costly for the main lines to be done, but the time has come to get with the times!! It should have been done long ago.
