Category : Power restoration time

Comments : I believe global warming is causing hurricanes to become more frequent and violent. As a year-round Florida resident, this concerns me. I detest being without electricity for days or weeks after a storm, so I have looked into installing my own solar power system with storage batteries, but at present the cost is beyond my means. In the "Sunshine State" all our power companies should be changing over to solar when they modernize. The Public Service Commission could also help homeowners to help themselves by finding ways to make private solar more affordable. Thank you.
