Dear Public Service Commission PSC,

As a Floridian age 50+, I'm focusing on rebuilding my life and community and don't want to worry about a higher power bill. Along with the financial hardships from the Hurricane Michael, as well as skyrocketing healthcare and housing prices and minimal increases in Social Security, an increase in monthly bills add up for people, like myself, who are on fixed incomes. Several years ago we moved from St. Petersburg to Panama City due to the high cost of living one of them was the high power bills. Don't golf power have insurance to pay for these type of damages, first of all golf power into this the power companies are 100 years behind the time we traveled extensively throughout Europe since I spent over 26 years active duty military for the past 85 years the power grid has moved underground. Wake up people put your power lines on the ground except for your transmission lines which is not infeasible. I believe the time has come now to leave the state of Florida altogether and making a welfare state for all the folks from Haiti, Cuba and the rest of the Latin countries therefore all these folks will be receiving welfare checks food stamps subsidized housing etc. It seems like every year you folks find an excuse to raise the electric bills.

Sincerely,

Mr. Klaus Hall
