Dear Public Service Commission PSC,

As a Floridian age 70 I'm focused on trying to get my life back in some type of order. I lost everything in the hurricane and I never thought that I would have to try and start my life over at this age. By increasing my power bill would be a financial hardships from the Hurricane Michael, as well as skyrocketing healthcare and housing prices and minimal increases in Social Security, an increase in monthly bills add up for people, like myself, who are on fixed incomes. I know they deserve a job well done at this time would not be a good time to raise power bills.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Mc Neal Jr
