Troy,

You can have a two-week extension, making the due date for submitting the draft notice February 22, 2019. I have given you a copy of a notice that you can use as a template. All I have is the pdf version, I don't have a Word version that would be convenient for editing. The affidavits (#1 from your list below) will be the proof (#3 from your list below) that you have complied with the noticing requirements, so all you really need is the example of a customer notice and an example of the affidavits. I can send you examples of affidavits from the same docket, but first we need to work on getting the draft notice approved so you can send it out.

I'll be waiting on your draft notice, but if you have any questions while you are working on it, give me a call.

Thanks.

Melinda Watts
