Dear Sir:

I have long questioned the "fuel adjustment" amount added to our bills when the amount per barrel of oil was exceedingly high and the charge continued and became permanent after oil prices became low.

Now you are asked to approve a hike due to damage made by the hurricane.

I wish to support those who suffered as a result of the natural disaster but suggest that the funds collected over the years as "fuel adjustments" should be the source of this support rather than an additional increase in charges.

If this is not adopted by the commission then I suggest any "fuel adjustments" made after the prices per barrel returned to normal be returned to the customers and no "adjustment" be allowed in the future without permission of the customers.

Sincerely,

Linda Powers
