1. Please explain why PGS is requesting a waiver of the on-site or walk-through requirements for residential audits, yet offers (or plans to offer) on-site or walk-through energy audits to its commercial customers.
 - A. Peoples Gas System believes it is important to offer Demand Side Management ("DSM") programs that can be taken advantage of by all customers that are not opting out of the Natural Gas Conservation Cost Recovery ("NGCCR") clause, in addition to meeting the requirements of the Florida Energy Efficiency and Conservation Act ("FEECA"). The request for a waiver of the on-site or walk-through requirements for residential audits is due to company having the ability to provide an electronic, online-only version of the computer-assisted audit that will provide residential customers the same type of feedback and recommendations regarding their energy usage and ways to improve the efficiency of the customers home or appliances as would be provided in an on-site or walk-through energy audit. The company is seeking approval in this Docket to establish an on-site walk-through energy audit for commercial customers due to the various equipment, operations, processes and market segments of these customers, which establishes a walk-through type audit as a more appropriate energy audit tool to identify opportunities to lower their annual natural gas usage and energy costs.

- 2. Please identify whether or not any other electric utilities and/or natural gas utilities provide on-site or walk-through residential audits throughout the Company's service territory, and clarify whether the Company's eligible residential customers already receive these offers or substantially similar offers from another source.

- A. The customer meter extract from the company's Geographical Information System ("GIS") shows that almost 100 percent of Peoples Gas System's service area is within the service areas of other FEECA electric utilities that offer on-site or walk-through residential energy audits to the company's same customers, in which they are eligible.
