Good day, I was told that this rate increase has already gone thru so I don't expect much if anything will be done but someone needs to say when something is wrong, because I had thought that was the public service commission's job-hence the words public service but I am wrong. I live in Pinellas County and the rate increase is for everyone even though these solar power plants are nowhere near here, one is Hamilton County which I know is nowhere Pinellas, so we are Not benefiting from the solar power, and in the brochure that was sent in my power bill said there was another solar plant but didn't say the county so who knows if it is in the state of Florida. Why the rate increase so far no one from Duke energy or PSC has been able to explain to me. In my way of thinking, some Duke CEO needed a bigger salary increase, perhaps a new private jet or vacation home. There should be responsibility by Duke Energy to maintain, and invest some of their huge profits in the running and up grading of their plants. If you the PSC is truly representing the people then that is what you should have told them in my opinion. Years ago the Crystal River Nuclear Power plant went down and a special increase was passed to the customer to rebuild the plant but that was never done, and the power company kept the money for the rebuild never having to give it back to the people, in my mind that was wrong then and still is, people are still waiting for the company to do the right thing which I believe will never happen. Just like this rate increase will never be stopped and reversed. It makes me sad to think that the Public Service Commission no longer has the people's best interests at heart.
