Good Morning. Just received my power bill for Aug/Sept. As you know, it was a record hot month. Even though we keep our thermostats at 78-79 deg, we still used more electricity than normal due to the heat. While I understand that escalating rates based on usage can conserve resources, I do not believe that FPL's fuel cost rates increase as they purchase more, based on standard economic principles. I believe this is further price gouging and a way to increase profits (inflation anyone?). PSC should not allow this and force refunds.
