Electric Rate Increases

It is very concerning that the public service commission keeps allowing duke energy to raise rates and apparently you're going along with it. Our home and auto insurance is already ridiculously expensive and for the past few years electricity has been going in the same direction. It's especially ridiculous that these companies are wasting our money on projects that are not even reliable. The citizens will know who to blame when we have blackouts like they've had in Spain and Portugal.
