

Commissioner Ronald A. Brisé Honored for Public Service

After serving two terms as a Florida Public Service Commissioner, Ronald A. Brisé's last day as a PSC Commissioner is January 1, 2018. His colleagues at the Commission and at the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) praised his record of fair and thoughtful public service and expressed regret at his departure.

Commissioner Brisé was recognized at his last Florida PSC Commission Conference on December 12 with a plaque and a video chronicling his PSC tenure through pictures. From making difficult decisions on the bench to championing the PSC's work through outreach to working for consumers on federal boards, Commissioner Brisé's public service will be missed.

A Resolution honoring Commissioner Brisé was adopted by NARUC's Executive Board during the 2017 NARUC Annual Meeting in Baltimore on November 15. Sponsored by the NARUC Committee on Telecommunications, Commissioner Brisé's contributions at both the federal and state levels to advance sound utility regulation policy were lauded with a standing ovation.

Here are a few clauses from the Resolution that reflect the respect Commissioner Brisé has earned as a result of his public service.

WHEREAS, Commissioner Brisé is admired and respected by his fellow Florida Commissioners—Chairman Julie I. Brown, Art Graham, Donald J. Polmann, and Gary F. Clark—for his calm demeanor, objectivity, kindness, and ability to make tough decisions with compassion, carefully weighing the outcomes for all parties; and

WHEREAS, Commissioner Brisé through his hard work, active engagement, positive attitude, and selfless service has earned the respect of his colleagues in Commissions across the country, industry representatives, and Florida consumers.
