

COMMISSION NEWS BRIEFS

COMMISSIONER
Donald J. Polmann
Featured on the Florida Channel

The Florida Public Service Commission's newest Commissioner, Donald J. Polmann, was recently featured on the Florida Channel's On the Line program. Commissioner Polmann discussed what he hopes to accomplish on the Commission and regulatory challenges in the ever-changing utility industries. You can access the interview here. The Florida Channel regularly broadcasts the PSC's Commission Conferences, which can be accessed on the Commission's website at:

www.FloridaPSC.com.

COMMISSIONER
Jimmy Patronis
Visits the White House for Greek Independence Day

Commissioner Jimmy Patronis was invited to the White House in March for the annual celebration of Greek Independence Day. It was the 31st consecutive White House celebration, which honors the 196th anniversary of the start of the Greek War for Independence on March 25, 1821. Commissioner Patronis attended the reception with his mother, Helen, who was born on the Greek island of Patmos and immigrated to the United States in 1946. Commissioner Patronis said, "It's one of those things that is probably the ultimate item on my bucket list. I went years ago for a bill signing, but this was different. I've never been in the White House based on an invitation."