

Commissioner Passidomo is Sworn In

Gabriella Passidomo was appointed to the Florida Public Service Commission (FPSC) by Governor Ron DeSantis to fill a vacant seat through January 1, 2023. As the PSC's newest Commissioner, she was given the oath of office on May 19 by Keith Hetrick, the PSC's General Counsel.

Before being appointed, Commissioner Passidomo served in the FPSC's Office of General Counsel, where she provided analysis and recommendations on issues spanning the Commission's regulatory jurisdiction.

Commissioner Passidomo served as a law clerk for the Florida solicitor general in the Office of the Attorney General. As a law student, she interned in the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of the Assistant General Counsel for Electricity and Fossil Energy. Commissioner Passidomo also authored a report on federal certifications for natural gas pipeline construction under the National Environmental Policy Act, becoming very familiar with federal energy and environmental policy.

Commissioner Passidomo graduated cum laude with a bachelor of science in political science from the University of Florida. She earned a juris doctorate from the Washington and Lee University School of Law and is a member of the Florida Bar. She is currently in the Master of Business Administration program at Florida State University.
