

Chairman Andrew Fay Experiences the LINE LIFE

Chairman Andrew Fay learned the true meaning of #ThankALineman, recently training with local line workers. Adhering to all safety measures, even donning steel-toed boots, Chairman Fay climbed poles, helped rescue an “injured” lineman, and learned what it takes to “live the line life!” Going forward, Lineworker Appreciation Day will have a new, very real meaning.

“I’ve always appreciated and admired our lineworkers for their dedication to a dangerous, and very important, job. Now, I have a deeper appreciation. Their safety-first mentality and commitment to their fellow lineworkers is to be admired and emulated,” Chairman Fay said following his training experience.
