

NARUC WINTER POLICY SUMMIT 2020

A Centennial of Women’s Power

Commissioner Julie Brown shared her experiences on becoming a successful woman in energy as a panelist “Celebrating a Centennial of Women’s Power,” at the NARUC Winter Policy Summit.

Commissioner Brown is pictured forth on the left, with other panelists.

Exploring the Value of Water

Commissioner Donald Polmann, as part of the NARUC Committee on Water, discusses the difficult customer education challenges about the value of water with “Troubled Water” author Seth Siegel.

Commissioner Polmann asking questions of the Committee.

“Rock You Like A Hurricane”

Commissioner Julie Brown moderated NARUC’s final General Session on “Pragmatic Planning for a Major Disaster,” leading the discussion on what commissions and utilities should be doing and who needs to be involved with panelists representing all utility sectors and stakeholders.

Commissioner Brown is pictured on the left.

47th ANNUAL PURC CONFERENCE

KEYNOTE:

The Future of Ratemaking

Chairman Gary Clark provided a Keynote Response, highlighting how greater customer expectations can impact future ratemaking.

Perspectives on Electric Vehicles

Commissioner Andrew Fay (left) moderated a panel on electric vehicles, from their promising future—predicted by Thomas Edison in 1910—to today’s need for regulatory policy to foster infrastructure and adoption.

Lessons in Markets

Commissioner Donald Polmann asks panelists about the changing circumstances affecting current ratemaking regulation and ways to best address them for all stakeholders. A general consensus is, “Rates, Realities and Risks” are complicated!