

NARUC 2023 Winter Policy Summit

Each February, the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) holds its Winter Policy Summit in Washington D.C. for utility regulators to learn from each other, industry experts, as well as federal agencies, such as the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the Department of Energy, and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. Florida Commissioners actively participate in NARUC Committees that focus on various aspects of the utility industry. Commissioner contributions at NARUC's 2023 Winter Policy Summit are here.

Commissioner Art Graham serves on NARUC's Board of Directors and is a member of NARUC's Executive Committee. He also serves on NARUC's Committee on Electricity, Subcommittee on Clean Coal and Carbon Management, and the Washington Action Program. In his leadership role, Commissioner Graham (pictured here) monitors NARUC's General Session on The Changing Energy Landscape and Regulatory Challenges, a conversation with the Honorable Jennifer Granholm, Secretary of Energy, Department of Energy.

Chairman Andrew Fay is Vice-Chair of NARUC's Critical Infrastructure Committee that focuses on protecting Florida's electric grid, and he moderated the Committee's Sunday afternoon discussion with experts on grid security.

Commissioner Gabriella Passidomo (third from the left) serves on NARUC's Committee on Gas and the Gas Subcommittee on Pipeline Safety. Joining NARUC's Committee on Water, Commissioner Passidomo co-moderated the Committee's panel on business practices, ratemaking, and regulatory processes.
