Re: Request for Comments on Development of Solar Technologies Dated April 23, 2015

Dear Ms. Lee Eng Tang,

Attached you will find public comments signed by 1484 Floridians, standing with Greenpeace and our partners in calling for robust, fair, and inclusive solar policies and programs in Florida.

Thank you for the opportunity to submit comments on what policies and programs would be most effective for supporting the development of both supply and demand-side solar energy in Florida.

Greenpeace has signed on in support of the technical comments that Vote Solar and the Solar Energy Industries Association have submitted. These comments call for the:

- 1) New interconnection procedures for solar resources that lower costs and reduce integration.
- 2) Reasonable and effective demand-side incentives for residential, commercial, and low-income customers.
- 3) Pilot programs for utilities to expand procurement and integration of distributed supply-side solar generation (DSG) for systems under 20 MW.
- 4) Shared solar programs designed to expand access to affordable solar for customers who cannot take advantage of solar opportunities.
- 5) Defined procurement targets and processes for utility-scale development through competitive, market-based solicitations.

Thank you for this opportunity to provide input on solar energy and the critical role it can and should play in Florida's energy future.

Sincerely,

Kate Melges
Florida Organizer

Make the Sunshine State solar-friendly!

Dear Florida Public Service Commission:

The time is now to enact policies that support the rapid development of solar resources -- policies that provide all Floridians with the choice to power their homes or businesses with renewable energy. While Florida has the best solar potential of any state east of the Mississippi, we are currently lagging behind neighboring states like Georgia and North Carolina in new solar development, largely due to a lack of policies and programs that would enable the solar market to flourish.

We, as Florida residents, call on the Florida Public Service Commission to protect and/or enact these pro-solar policies and programs:

- Net metering, a key policy currently in place that makes it possible for all Floridians to put solar on their roofs and be fairly compensated for the additional energy they are adding to the grid.
- Third party energy sales, which would enable schools, churches, businesses, and homeowners to install solar easily and cost effectively through direct contracts with third-party energy suppliers.
- Community solar programs that enable any individual or group to invest in collective, off-site solar projects, while seeing a direct benefit on their individual electric bills.
- Policies that put renewable energy first, ensuring that future energy investments in Florida are clean, affordable, and renewable.

From extreme weather events to sea level rise and coastal erosion, Florida's communities and environment face some of the greatest risks of climate change. It is up to all of us to do everything we can to reduce our use of fossil fuels and move towards an energy system powered by renewable energy resources like solar. The Florida Public Service commission plays a critical role in shaping the energy market, and we call on you to prioritize policies and programs that move us away from fossil fuels and towards a clean energy future.

Signed,
